COL. GUFFEY IS SUPREME; SLATE WILL GO THROUGH HARRISBURG CONVENTION

Ticket and Platform Are Mapped Out for the Delegates.

BRENNEN TO PRESIDE

Pittsburgh Attorney Is Selected for Temporary Chairman. Contests Undecided.

ALLEGHENY PARTY ARRIVES

From a Staff Correspondent.
[By Private Wire To The Gazette.]

Harrisburg, Sept. 1.—Col. J. M. Guffey has settled on the Democratic ticket and decided on the platform, but will leave the convention to determine the contests in Westmoreland and Luzerne counties. He says that the two sides can fight it out and that he will keep his hands off. This program insures a little sport at the meeting to be held tomorrow in J. K. P. Hall's cut-rate hall. This is the slate for state candidates:

Senator Arthur G. Dewalt, Lehigh county, Auditor General.

Senator Joel G. Hill, Wayne county, State Treasurer.

Ex-Judge Calvin Rayburn, Armstrong county, Superior Court Judge.

John A. Ward, Philadelphia, Superior Court Judge.

William J. Brennen of Pittsburgh, has been selected for temporary chairman of the convention. The permanent presiding officer has not been decided upon, but the honor will probably go to Representative R. Scott Ammerman of Mercer county, who stepped aside to allow the nomination of Ward for superior court judge.

The platform will condemn the Salus-Grady libel act, the bosses being willing to take a chance that Senator J. K. P. Hall will be able to explain his record in this bill when it was pending in the senate. The balance of the platform will be devoted to a number of alleged state issues, while national matters will be skimmed over.

Quite a number of Democrats drifted into town today and the crowd compares favorably with the off-year convention attendance. Col. Guffey came in on the limited this afternoon and walked from the station to the Commonwealth. He was not discovered until he reached his hotel. A later train brought a crowd of Democrats from Allegheny. The party was headed by Controller John B. Larkin, W. J. Brennen, James A. Clark and Thomas B. Alcorn.

Westmoreland also contributed a good many Democrats, John B. Keenan, H. S. Ackerman and William C. Cribbs were the first Westmoreland feudists to arrive. They lost no time in announcing that they were not here to compromise. They declared that it was either a full vote in the convention for their delegation or they would not take part at all. Ackerman said that the opposition was represented by book agents, beer agents and carpet-baggers and that none of them ever contributed to the campaign fund.

Factions Must Fight It Out.

George H. Hugus and ex-Sheriff Lucien Clawson headed the Judge L. W. Doty faction. The judge will not be here. Hugus said that in the interest of harmony he was willing to accept a half vote for his delegation. This proposition was made to Col. Guffey. Later he called Keenan and Ackerman in. They refused to compromise, saying that they had won the fight in Westmoreland and a half vote would not be accepted. Col. Guffey said after the conference with Keenan and Ackerman that the contest would be left to the convention.

"I am satisfied to allow both sides to fight it out," said the colonel, "since they have refused to compromise. I will not take a hand for either faction. No, the rule that would bar both delegations from a right to a voice in the convention because of the failure to certify the election of the delegates within the time limit, will not be enforced. Both delegations will be allowed to submit their claims to the committee of credentials."

The Keenan delegation is as follows: W. C. Lupold, John L. Ackerman, A. M.

Oil King Is on the High Road to a Greater Distinction.

A NATIONAL LEADER

The Dictator of Pennsylvania Democracy Can Be Chairman by Giving the Nod.

IS IN A CLASS BY HIMSELF

From a Staff Correspondent.
[By Private Wire To The Gazette.]

Harrisburg, Sept. 1.—Since the day of Peter the Hermit there has been nothing like this. Don Quixote established a reputation for oscillating windmills, then Coxey, he of Ohio, gave a thrill to commonwealths. But it was left to Guffey, to Guffey the oil king, to tear athwart the traditions of a glorious past and say to the people of this Keystone state: "This is the man," and let it be written that what Col. Guffey says goes. It is true that Beaver has given the state a Napoleon, but the iron duke of political destiny—from the Democratic Gibraltar standpoint—first saw the dawn in the wilds of Westmoreland, and no man says him nay.

Col. Guffey is the Pennsylvania member of the Democratic national committee and the outlook is that he will be the premier of that panic-producing organization. Picturesque, debonair enveloped in the romantic haze of the frontier, he is today without an advisory council. He has named the men who will have position in the party column and has dictated a synopsis of the creed which must stand against the bulwarks of national and state prosperity.

His personal selections for the party ticket, those of essential import, were made and given by The Gazette months ago. One, only one, 100-to-1 shot, has been left open, a last ditch, the eastern nomination for a place on the superior court bench, a place that will be vacant, even if Guffey's man must sit there. But the colonel is a diplomat. He believes that misfortune's burdens should be equally shared and gives the "chance" to Attorney John A. Ward of Philadelphia. The decision makes glad the heart of Chairman Donnelly and gives lucrative advertisement to Ward.

Then, the colonel goes into executive session with himself and frames a state platform. It is innocent, harmless, adroit. In it there are saving clauses for Col. Guffey's state chairman, J. K. P. Hall, for all the important errors of a motiveless national and state organization. The national phase, by Col. Guffey's direction, is to be passed by a meaningless "Declaration of party principles." Then comes the tug of war. "State issues" is to be the slogan. No particular issue impresses its dominance upon the colonel. He gives all issues a fair chance to sink or swim. The libel law is handled—a bill which Democratic State Chairman Hall refused to vote against; reference is made to the fact that the last legislature did not enact a "personal registration law" and equal anger is evidenced over the passing of the Focht general ballot bill, in which is incorporated the contentions urged for years by the Democrats. Reference is also made to state taxation which, in the opinion of Col. Guffey, is unjust. The colonel knows. But the convention of tomorrow is not imprtant. It is only a curtain-raiser on the hopes of those who rely upon chance to give them a leverage on the future. If Col. Guffey gives the nod he will be chairman of the Democratic national committee, but the incident of tomorrow is only another example of "If thy brother smite thee, turn the other cheek."

CHESTER D. POTTER.

Failed to Get Harmony.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—The Democrats this morning selected ex-Congressman Stanley W. Davenport as county chairman, and a short time afterward sent their delegation to the state convention. Mr. Davenport accompanying them. He was chosen by the Garman candidates and leaders, and is not altogether acceptable to the Lenahan faction, so that the effort to preserve harmony in the party has been a failure.

ARRESTED BECAUSE HE TROD ON A WOMAN'S DRESS

Man Apologized for Carelessness, but That Did Not Satisfy Woman Who Said She Was a Friend of McTighe's.

"I'm a friend of Johnny McTighe's and he'll make that fellow buy me a new dress."

So shouted a woman in Fifth avenue last night. The man she referred to was one John Wilson. He accidentally trod on the train of the woman's dress and for this he was arrested. Wilson was taken to Central station by Officer James McGuire and locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was immediately released on a forfeit of $30 and will have a hearing this morning. The woman was released on a promise to appear at the hearing.

The police refuse to give the name of the woman. She was walking in Fifth avenue, just below Wood street. Wilson in attempting to pass her trod on her skirt and tore the edge of the garment. He immediately apologized, explaining that it was entirely an accident. Words were useless. The woman upbraided Wilson for his carelessness. A crowd gathered and attracted the attention of McGuire. He followed the couple into a nearby confectionery store, where the woman started to pin the torn garment together.

Wilson still persisted that the affair was an accident. "That won't buy me a new dress," said the woman. "Officer, I want that man arrested. I'm a friend of Johnny McTighe's and he'll make that fellow buy me a new dress."

Without further words the officer took Wilson to the station and the woman followed. Inspector McStay told Wilson that he would have to hold him for disorderly conduct.

Wilson did not give his right name. He lives in the East End and is said to be a well-known business man. He was chagrined when he left the police station. "Think of it," he said, "me, with a wife and family and arrested for treading on a woman's dress. McTighe's word seems to be law though."

What It Might Lead To.

SCHWAB WILL MANAGE PNEUMATIC TOOL CO.

Shake-Up and Reorganization of Directorate Will Develop Shortly.

[Special Telegram To The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—A big shake-up in the executive affairs of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company is coming. What amounts practically to a reorganization of one of the corporations that has made and lost fortunes in the past three years for many Chicagoans will take place within the week. Here are some of the developments now conceded by the men in control:

William J. Chalmers and Charles H. Wacker to resign as members of the executive committee and the directory.

Charles M. Schwab, former president of the Steel Corporation, and Charles H. Matthiessen, president of the Corn Products Company, now the heavy owners of the stocks of the tool company, to assume active management.

Number of directors to be reduced from 15 to 9, or possibly 7.

Executive headquarters to be removed to New York at once.

In connection with these developments are stories of serious dissensions in the directorate of the corporation, as well as between the executive committee and the executive department, and complete confirmation of the recently published story of purchase of the stock of Attorney Max Pam.

The company has no plant in Chicago and the removal to New York is for executive reasons to bring it in closer touch with Mr. Schwab and his associates.

POISON LESS BITTER THAN INGRATITUDE

Assistance Is Refused Benefactress Who Dies from Carbolic Acid in Hospital.

[By Private Wire To The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Mary Lang, 54 years old, who inherited a fortune from her husband several years ago, died in St. Catherine's hospital, Brooklyn, today from the effects of carbolic acid, which she took last night while seated on a chair guarding her furniture, which had been thrown on the sidewalk in front of her recent home, because she was unable to pay her rent.

After her fortune had dwindled to nothing and she was left penniless, because of her gifts to charity, Mrs. Lang was forced to leave the home she had mortgaged and live in three small rooms. She became ill a few days ago, and finding herself unable to pay her rent went to the persons she had so generously befriended and asked them to advance her a little money until she was able to resume work. Her efforts were fruitless.

RADICALS EXPECT TO WIN.

Lentz Hopes Bryan's Visit Today Will Make Him Nominee for United States Senator.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—John J. Lentz counts upon W. J. Bryan's visit here tomorrow to give him a chance in the United States senatorship. The free silver men are organizing against John H. Clarke, the gold Democrat, whom Tom Johnson forced upon the Democratic state convention, and if their plans are carried out Lentz is to be the beneficiary.

A supreme effort will be made tomorrow when Bryan comes to Columbus to deliver a non-partisan address at the state fair, to persuade him to declare against Clarke. It is not certain that Johnson will yield even if Bryan demands Clarke's withdrawal, but it is probable that he will in order not to widen the breach between the factions of the party. Bryan's refusal to appear with Clarke at Napoleon is taken by the radicals as an indication that he will yield to their wishes.

RACING YACHTS WAIT IN VAIN FOR A BREEZE

Race Declared Off Until Today With the Consent of Everybody Concerned.

[By Private Wire To The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—For the fourth time since last Thursday the cup candidates, Reliance and Shamrock III., failed to pull off their third race for the America's cup today.

They rather varied the monotony of things by going out to the starting line and drifting about for three hours. The regatta committee of the New York Yacht club, after consulting with the managers of the rival racers, called the race off at 12:30 o'clock and announced that the yachts would make another attempt to sail the much-postponed race tomorrow.

That the public generally and even the yachtsmen are becoming tired of the race was apparent to every one. Only three excursion boats and scarcely 10 yachts went out to the starting line. There was only a breath of air from the northward and eastward, and the rival racers, dangling behind tugs at the ends of long hawsers, were slowly dragged back and forth past the lightship.

As there was nothing better to do the excursion boats ran up along side of the Erin and while their passengers cheered Sir Thomas, the bands played "The Wearing of the Green," "Come Back to Erin," and other popular Irish airs.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler, chairman of the committee appointed to secure a silver service as a token of the high esteem in which Sir Thomas Lipton is held, said tonight:

"There are individuals who would like to contribute the entire sum, but that would not attain the object. It is to be a gift of people in all parts of the United States. The yacht races were regulated by an act of congress, and that, of course, gives them a national aspect.

"The contributions will be entirely voluntary, no one has been or will be asked to subscribe."

DUNCAN CURRY.

CLEVER THIEF TRAPPED.

Snatched Bundle of Money from Bank, but Ran Into Blind Alley.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—A blind alley proved the undoing of Phillip Bailey of New York after he had snatched a bundle of bank notes from a bank of this city. The theft was worked with an accomplice at noon. The confederate called the paying teller by telephone, and Bailey with a long wire snatched out a bundle of bills containing $600. An office boy saw him and called the bookkeeper. Bailey was in a fair way to escape when he trapped himself in the blind alley.

Bailey is about 23 years old. He recently was released from Sing Sing for a job like this one. He secured $10,000 from the Metropolitan National bank at New York.

SYLPH'S LAUNCH ABLAZE.

Explosion of Naptha Burns Engineer of Cutter from President's Yacht.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—There was an explosion aboard a naphtha launch of the dyish, President Roosevelt's yacht, shortly before that vessel left here this afternoon. The engineer of the launch was caught in a sheet of flame, which badly burned his face and arms. The Sylph left this afternoon for Marthas Vineyard, where she will take part in the target practice of the North Atlantic squadron.

The president, with a small party, will leave here on Sunday night. He will review the labor day parade in Syracuse in the morning and at noon will make an address at the state fair. He will afterward review the parade of the letter carriers. Former Senator Frank Hiscock will entertain the president and his party at dinner. The president will leave that night for Oyster Bay.

STOCKS LOOK CHEAP TO REJUVENATED GATES

Famous Speculator Returns to Wall Street and Favors Bull Side of Market.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—John W. Gates, who has been in Saratoga during the racing season, was at his Wall street office today. Mr. Gates has been interested this summer, first in his health, then in the turf, and finally in the stock market. Just a year ago he was conducting a bull stock market that did some astonishing things with certain shares. Now he believes that stocks are too low, but is taking little active interest in the market.

Mr. Gates is looking considerably thinner than when he went away. He says, however, that he feels better than for a long while. Discussing the stock market he said:

"Good dividend paying stocks look cheap to me. I think the selling was overdone. There is nothing in the general conditions of the country to make one feel dissatisfied or alarmed. When I reached the office this morning I found two telegrams, one from a western railroad president, saying that the corn crop would be 75 or 80 per cent of last harvest, which I consider very fine. The other was from a high official of a southern line who predicts a cotton crop of between 11,000,000 and 12,000,000 bales. At the prices now being paid for these staples there is lots of money in sight for the agricultural sections of the country."

Leaves Note for Rural Mail Carrier Informing Him of a Ghastly Tragedy.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WARRENTON, MO., Sept. 1.—"Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Yeater have ten killed; please report."

This message, found in the Yeater mail box a few hundred yards from the family home last night by a rural carrier, was the first information of a tragedy which startled this community. The carrier had shown the note to several persons in the Yeater neighborhood, all of whom thought it a jest.

Marshall Morsey, a personal friend of the Yeaters, sent a messenger to the Yeater home and upon opening the bedroom door his eyes fell on a ghastly sight. In bed was old Mr. Yeater with his throat cut. At the foot of the bed on the floor lay Mrs. Yeater with her throat cut. They were clad in their night clothes.

William E. Church, an adopted son, is missing. The handwriting on the note to the mail carrier is identified as his.

REPUBLIC STEEL WILL SHOW A GOOD SURPLUS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, October 21, will be an important one, as the plans of the company for important improvements and extensions are to be submitted for approval. The company's ore and coke resources now include over 20,000,000 tons of Northern ore and 34,000,000 tons of Connellsville coking coal. It has 40 years' supply of steam coal in the Pittsburgh district and 50 years' supply of coking coal in the Alabama district. For the year it will show a net surplus in excess of $1,000,000 and a total surplus of $4,200,000.

TURKEY'S FATE IN THE SCALES

The Christian Subjects of Abdul Hamid to Be Forcibly Freed.

TIME HAS ARRIVED

Francis Joseph, Edward, Wilhelm and Nicholas Will Decide Momentous Question Shortly.

WAR WILL BE QUICKLY OVER

[Special Cable To The Gazette.]

Vienna, Sept. 1.—In conversation with the Gazette correspondent this morning a well-known politician, one of the few men who enjoy the confidence of Sir Francis Plunkett, British ambassador to the court of Vienna, expressed the opinion that King Edward's visit to Francis Joseph, together with similar visits on the part of the czar and kaiser in September, will probably lead to the final dissolution of the Turkish empire in Europe.

"England," said the diplomat, "believes the time has come when the union between the Turk and his Christian subjects of the Aryan race should be brought to an end.

"Such action might involve war, but if Europe should proceed unanimously the struggle would be short. Apparently in no other way can peace and prosperity be conferred on the Balkans. Everybody willing to see provision that Turkey is incapable of introducing reforms."

Serious measures looking toward intervention are undoubtedly being discussed in the highest quarters, but are unlikely to assume final form for several weeks, unless unexpected and extraordinary events in Macedonia distort the orderly deliberations of the powers. Should Turkey, pending the formulation of an agreement for international action, make substantial headway toward restoring order and paving the way for reform, it is thought the powers will gladly hold their plans in abeyance and again take up their policy of maintaining the status quo.

REVOLT PROCLAIMED IN NORTHERN MACEDONIA

Gen. Zontcheff and Col. Jankoff Lead Attempt to Dislodge Turkish Yoke.

[Associated Press Cable To The Gazette.]

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Sept. 1.—The Macedonian revolutionaries against the anniversary of the sultan's accession to proclaim the long anticipated general insurrection in Northern Macedonia, the proclamation of which was issued today signed by all the members of the insurgent general staff. The new outbreak is headed by the famous Macedonian leaders, Gen. Zontcheff, president of the Macedonian committee, and Col. Jankoff, who was wounded in the riding of 1902.

The new territory covers the district in the valley of the Struma at the base of the Rhodope mountain chain and to the north of the river Vardar. Col. Jankoff is directing the movements of the bands in the southern part.

News of severe fighting is still coming in. At the village of Armenli after a day's fighting the Turkish troops in the night time massacred the entire population of 150 men and 200 women. The Turks have also massacred the inhabitants of the village of Veled.

It is reported that Hilmi Pasha, the inspector general for Macedonia, fears to leave his headquarters in the hotel at Monastir. The insurgent leader Grouff, in a letter to Hilmi Pasha, demanded that he prevent the barbarous acts of the Turkish soldiers and Arabi bazouks, otherwise the revolutionaries would massacre all the Turkish inhabitants. The insurgents have occupied the mountain pass of Gergeli, on the main line from Salonica to Uskub, and Turkish troops have been sent to dislodge them. The town of Malkastoro is reported to be in a state of anarchy, the Turks plundering the houses and committing unspeakable atrocities on the women.

SALONICA, Sept. 1.—According to the latest Turkish official estimate about 1,200 Bulgarians were killed in the recent fighting at Resilova Nevska and Klisoura. The Turkish losses are not stated. This estimate does not include further losses in the Smilevo district, where fighting was renewed August 30 and continued until yesterday. It is reported that 600 Bulgarians were killed in this new battle. Sarafoff, the revolutionary leader, left Saloniki.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 1.—The celebration here of the anniversary of the sultan's accession passed off without any untoward incident. The sultan held the customary reception and received the congratulations of the representatives of the powers and the state dignitaries. This evening the city is brilliantly illuminated.

The government has imposed a personal or land tax on the entire population of the empire over the age of 18. The tax is on different classes and ranges from about 60 cents to $400 each annually. This is regarded in some quarters as better to the nature of a provision for war.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The diplomatic tension between Turkey and the United States is increasing. The state department today gave out a dispatch from Consul Dievalet at Beirut, which flatly contradicts the Turkish version of the account of the attempt on the life of Vice Consul Magdisian. BIGELOW WILL REMOVE WIRES

All Poles in Prohibited Streets Must Be Cut Down at Once.

HAS NEW ORDINANCE

Director Will Put Bill in Councils to Clear Other Thoroughfares.

THE LAW IS BEING VIOLATED

Poles and overhead wires must go, says Director Bigelow, and that in a very short time. The director yesterday visited the city clerk's office to examine the ordinance leading to the removal of overhead wires from the streets, and he announced immediately afterward that he would have an ordinance introduced at the first meeting of councils compelling the telephone, telegraph and electric light companies to remove their poles and wires from every street in the city within, giving them two years in which to do it. If the order is not obeyed in that time the public works department will cut down the wires and poles.

Director Bigelow will take more summary measures in regard to poles and wires on certain streets where they are already prohibited. In Penn avenue, Liberty avenue, Wylie avenue, Cedar avenue, Fifth avenue, Forbes street and Carson street, along their entire length, the wires and poles are prohibited now. An ordinance was passed May 27, 1901, requiring all poles and overhead wires in those certain streets to be removed within eight years. This lists expired last May, over three months ago. There have been some efforts on foot by councilmen to take down their wires and the poles, but at present nothing at all is being done to remove them.

City May Cut Down Poles.

Director Bigelow has the authority to cut down the wires without further notice to the companies, but he will notify them they must be taken down at once, or his employes will do it for them.

Instead of taking down their poles and wires, the two rival telephone companies are busy putting up a network of new wires and poles in all quarters of the city. Said the director:

"The telephone companies are flouting and put up poles and wires wherever they think they can get more business. In Oakland and the East End, particularly, the collusion is the worst. It is obligatory, but the danger is a small one. I'm in sympathy to the utmost upon property along thoroughfares, where how wires and poles are being placed. It is overcrowding the value of property in the East End and Oakland to the extent of 25 to three feet. The filing must be stopped and every pole now on prohibited streets named in the ordinance of 1901 will have to come down.

"If the city has violated its own ordinance, it will not be shown any favor. The city will have to take down its wires if the same as private corporations. The ordinance of 1901 names seven streets in which poles and wires were prohibited after May, of this year. Wires and poles in other streets will have to come down in two years."

City One of Violators.

The city has been one of the violators of the law of late, it being claimed by the public safety officials that the appropriations for several years past have not been large enough to work relief to the extent desired, although many miles of the city's wires have been put under ground. This year there was no appropriation at all for that purpose owing to the policy pursued by the city treasurer and the finance committee in cutting down expenses.

Director Bigelow said he had talked with officials of the telephone companies about the overhead wires, but not quite extensively. The latter particularly shown by the city in enforcing its ordinances has encouraged the companies to extend their service without procuring the greater expense of laying conduits.

Director Bigelow will serve notice upon these companies that no more poles shall be erected in the city limits, and if the order is not obeyed arrests and prosecutions will follow.

Plans of the Western Union Telegraph company which call for a number of new trunk lines out of Pittsburgh to the east and west will impel that company to insist upon the enforcement of that portion of the ordinance compelling the removal of wires and poles from Carson street.

The company intends constructing a trunk line from the heart of the city to New York on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and it proposes to use the conduit system the greater part of the distance. The line is to reach to Wheeling, Dallas, Clarksburg and Baltimore, and will cost over $20,000. It is now building two trunk lines from Pittsburgh to Cleveland in a total of 248 miles. The latter contracts will build a total of 25 miles and will reach Baltimore and Philadelphia by way of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

STRANGE DISEASE STRIKES SURELY

Epidemic in Santiago Province in Cuba Said to Be Dread Black Water Fever.

IT KILLED CAPTAIN RAFFERTY

Symptoms Are Similar to Those of Yellow Fever, but Its Work Is Quicker and Surer—Washington Receives Reassuring Advices from Havana.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Black water fever, one of the worst diseases known to the tropics, is supposed to be the mysterious ailment which is now raging in Cuba. It was this fever that killed Capt. Malcom A. Rafferty, who led Company E, of the Seventy-first regiment in the charge up San Juan hill. Captain Rafferty died at Port of Spain, Trinidad.

It has been many years since black water fever raged to any extent in the West Indies, and this is why the ailment mystified the doctors stationed at the mines in Daiquiri. The symptoms were similar in many respects to those attending attacks of yellow fever, yet in several important points they differed from "yellow jack." The strange ailment was swifter and surer in its work and the victims suffered untold agony.

Black water fever is a malarial infection which has only recently been differentiated and studied. The disease was first discovered by French surgeons at Nosibe, a French settlement of Madagascar.

The disease commences with heavy chills lasting from 15 to 20 minutes. Then follows a high fever, supplemented by pains in the joints and vomiting. About six hours from the commencement of the attack the patient assumes a yellow color. The pulse by this time is usually 150; respiration from 33 to 38. All of these symptoms were noticeable in the deaths which occurred at Daiquiri.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—In view of the agitation at Philadelphia on account of the report received at Jefferson college that a new disease had broken out at Daiquiri, Cuba, which was alarming Cubans and mystifying physicians, Dr. Walter Wyman, surgeon general of the public health, today cabled Frederick Frotter, assistant surgeon at Havana, asking for full information concerning the outbreak. Tonight a cablegram was received from Dr. Carlos Finley, president of the Cuban board of health, stating that a number of cases of hemorrhagic malarial fever had been reported from Daiquiri, and that a commission had been sent to investigate. No disease of a contagious nature has been reported.

BATTLE WITH SYRIANS.

Officers Have a Hard Time Arresting a Man Wanted in Youngstown, O.

Inspector P. F. Kelly and Special Officer James Conners yesterday arrested Goko Mammilla, a Syrian, at the home of his brother, No. 2622 Carey alley. He was accused of stealing $240 from Michael Frakio, a hotel keeper at Youngstown, Ohio.

When the officers went to the Carey alley home a number of men refused to allow Mammilla to be taken. They gave Conners a hard battle, but he succeeded in landing Goko Mammilla and his brother, Alexander Mammilla, in the police station. The latter was charged with interfering with an officer.

Goko Mammilla confessed to have stolen the money. Part of the amount stolen had been sent to relatives in Syria and the balance he either squandered or gave it to a friend to keep.

THIEVES LEFT BEFORE THE POLICE ARRIVED

An attempt was made to rob the residence of Miss Cora Wagley at No. 92 Ivy street early yesterday morning. Miss Wagley and her sister, Miss Maud Wagley, saw two men about the premises, one in the kitchen and the other standing watch in the yard. The police were called, and it is alleged that they were slow about responding. The men were frightened away and nothing was stolen. Up to two weeks ago the family employed a private watchman, but his services were dispensed with.

THE EXPOSITION OPENS TONIGHT

Record-Breaking Crowds Expected to Greet Creatore at His Initial Concert.

MANY NOVELTIES TO BE SEEN

All the Attractions Will Be in Readiness When the Big Show Opens Tonight. Fine Music a Feature—Newspaper Representatives Entertained.

There is no more important day in Pittsburgh's calendar than this. Tonight at 7:30 o'clock, with the wave of Creatore's baton the Western Pennsylvania Exposition society will begin its fifteenth season. In the big building at the Point 20,000 people are expected to welcome the famous bandmaster and join with patriotic pride in the demonstration accompanying the annual opening of the Smoky City's greatest institution of amusement.

Everything that goes toward making this the most notable industrial exhibition Pittsburgh has ever enjoyed, will be in ship-shape form. Not a single feature will be missing. When the whistle blows at 5 o'clock this afternoon, the last of the great army of workmen will leave the grounds with their task of arranging the exhibits practically completed. Never before have the exhibitors shown more commendable promptness in preparing for the ceremonies of opening day. When the thousands of spectators file through the gates they will find the rubbish cleared away and the paint dry. The eleventh hour work will be done and the atmosphere will breathe a cordial welcome.

Manager Fitzpatrick Entertains.

Last night the electric lights were turned on and Manager Thomas J. Fitzpatrick gave a preliminary press view of the exposition to the newspaper representatives. His guests, to the number of more than 100, enjoyed all the delights which tonight will be given to the general public. Only Creatore and his musicians were absent. They will arrive from Cleveland at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

A tour around the buildings revealed many innovations. New paint, new exhibits, new booths, new illuminating effects, new ideas in placing the striking features of the exhibition and new sizes of popcorn balls had wrought wonders. All the best things of former years will be retained, with a wealth of novelties introduced for the first time.

The amusement features provide every form of entertainment from the time-honored merry-go-round and roller coaster to a vaudeville theater. The greatest novelty this year is the baby incubator. An infant three days old was placed in the glass case yesterday, and upon a pillow is being tenderly nourished until it has gathered strength to endure the more rugged handling in the nursery. The warm air from a gas jet regulated automatically by a thermometer constantly circulates around the tiny body. As it lay sleeping the little red face seemed to manifest every expression of peaceful contentment.

Some New Attractions.

The theater has been enlarged and repainted and continuous vaudeville performances will be given, with an exhibition of moving pictures. The bill will be changed each week. The miniature railroad is a novelty that is destined to make a big hit with young America. On tracks of a gauge of 15 inches a locomotive, which is the exact counterpart of those used in hauling fast passenger trains on the big railroads, pulls a long row of four cars, which seat four passengers each. The steamer Florence Belle will make frequent trips from the exposition wharf and give strangers an opportunity to see the wonders of Pittsburgh from the three rivers. People who like thrills can get all they are looking for in the "cave of the winds," and a realistic reproduction of the Johnstown flood will recall all the horrors of the Conemaugh disaster.

Manager Fitzpatrick's guests were served with luncheon in the exposition restaurant, which has been so successfully operated for several seasons by E. A. Gregory. As souvenirs there was a bountiful supply of Baker's famous "Extro" popcorn. Manager Fitzpatrick was complimented on every hand for the progress that had been made in every department of the big enterprise.

The Gazette's Reading Room.

The free reading room provided for exposition visitors by The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph will be open as usual this year. All the prominent newspapers of the country, as well as the publications from the surrounding towns, will be on file. There will be an abundance of stationery, which is given gratis to those who desire to write to their friends.

The musical program at the opening will suit all tastes. Assisting Creatore will be Mme. Barili, soprano, who has selected for her debut number that brilliant coloratura gem, the "Parla" waltz, by Arditti, who wrote it expressly for Mme. Sembrich. The success which attended Creatore's engagement at the exposition last season augurs well for an attendance tonight which shall far exceed that of the record-breaking turnout a year ago. The program for tonight's recital follows:

7:30 p. m.

March, "Teasing Hearts".....Creatore
Overture, Mignon".....Thomas
Prelude from "Faust".....Gounod

OPPONENTS OF CANAL ARE WORKING FOR DELAY

Complications in Panama Would Prolong Negotiations Indefinitely.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Friends of the Panama canal, senatorial and others, will attempt to drive President Roosevelt from his position of immediately settling the question as between Nicaragua and Panama. The state department is already getting advice to the effect that Colombia should be given more time.

The Panama boomers are counting on a revolution in the state of Panama to help their diplomacy. The revolution would play into the hands of every enemy of the canal. Whether the complications would be set up as excuse for Colombia and urged as a reason for giving Colombia more time to proceed with a new treaty.

The cards are now in the hands of those who hold millions of money to beat the Nicaragua route. They see that if there be a revolution in Colombia, or even a slight disturbance menacing the transit across the isthmus, the United States government, under the treaty of 1846 with Colombia made with or without Colombia's consent, send ships and marines to the isthmus to keep the line open.

The insurgents, knowing that powerful interests are behind the desire to have the Panama canal built at any cost or none, would be strengthened by the presence of the United States troops. Delay, which is the object of the canal's enemies, would thus be assured.

Rear Admiral Walker, the head of the canal commission, is home suddenly from his vacation last night and had today a long conference with Secretary Hay.

Dr. Herran tonight called attention to the fact that the time limit for the exchange of ratifications had practically expired, because even if the canal treaty was ratified at Bogota, it could not reach here before September 22, in time for the formal exchange.

Mr. Herran thinks that if the treaty is ratified it must be done under an extension of time. Dr. Herran has not been requested to call for this extension and in fact has had no communication from his government since the 16th of August.

POLICE ARE PUZZLED BY BOY WITH A TAG

A Swedish boy, apparently about 10 years old, arrived at the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania railroad last evening. A tag attached to his coat bore the direction "John Franklin Moore, East Liberty Station." The police are baffled by the case, as he can not speak a word of English nor understand their questions. The tag bore a Philadelphia mark. It is thought that he has been sent from Sweden to some one in this country. The only John F. Moore in the directory given as living in Pittsburgh is at No. 328 Meyran avenue.

The articles stolen were so bulky that Phillips thinks the thief must have had a horse and wagon to haul the stuff away.

ARMY OF THE PHILIPPINES GOES NEXT TO ST. LOUIS

Above the piano was a notice in which the uninvited guests gave thanks for the hospitality rendered them.

COL. GUFFEY IS SUPREME SLATE WILL GO THROUGH

White, Henry Geary, W. D. Coburn, Joseph Frantz, W. W. Mertz, W. F. Holtzer, W. E. Crawford, W. A. Brown. The Doty delegates are J. R. Silvis, A. F. Laudis, W. W. Barclay, Peter Wise, H. L. Bell, J. R. Mowry, William Welch, J. E. Willard, Jacob Keffer, Doty Guthrie.

Secretary P. Gray Meek of the state committee says that neither delegation is entitled to participate in the convention. The state rules provide that delegates must be certified to the committee within 10 days after the election. The Doty convention was held on January 2 and the delegates were sent in within 10 days, but Meek says that the proper persons did not sign the certificates. The Keenan delegates were elected April 18 and certified June 8. Ackerman says that he delayed forwarding the delegates until the state executive committee had settled which county convention was regular. Hugus insists that the certificates were properly signed.

Mulvihill Not in Evidence.

At the meeting of the state executive committee tonight no action was taken on either the Westmoreland or Luzerne contests. Chairman Hall makes up the temporary roll. He will not tell whether he will put either Westmoreland delegation on the roll. Carrying out Guffey's program of fair play, both sides would be barred from a voice in the temporary work of the convention.

James P. Mulvihill of Monongahela, who announced in Pittsburgh last week that he would come to the convention as a delegate from Washington, has not appeared. He was to be on the credential committee and help get the Doty delegates seated. Hugus says that he knows nothing about Mulvihill and that his Pittsburgh statement was made without knowledge of the Doty managers. Effort is being made late tonight to get the warring Westmoreland factions together. If Keenan surrenders now he will have to eat a large amount of crow. Hugus insists that he will stick in the fight to a finish. John M. Garman and John T. Lenahan are ready for the fray. They will contest for the control of the two delegates from the 60 Luzerne districts. There are 16 delegates in the county and so far each side controls seven.

Gorman's men will get on the temporary roll. Soon after the arrival of Guffey the running mate of Judge Rayburn for superior court was selected. Ammerman of Montour said he did not want the nomination and John A. Ward of Philadelphia was slated. He was born in Philadelphia, August 15, 1800. He studied law under Gen. William McCandless and in 1881 was admitted to the bar. He has always been a Democrat. He will be placed in nomination tomorrow by Dallas Sanders of Philadelphia. Senator Dewalt will be named by Robert E. Wright of Allentown. Representative Leopold Fourth will present Senator Hill's name.

A Kittanning orator will probably nominate Judge Rayburn. The executive committee tonight selected W. J. Brennen for temporary chairman of the convention. These officers were also named: W. Hays Grier, Lancaster, secretary; E. Lowrey Humes, Crawford, assistant secretary; J. Wood Clark, Indiana, reading clerk; Cyrus Brungart, Centre, sergeant-at-arms, and Nicholas A. Bendel, Allegheny, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

The Allegheny delegation caucused tonight with W. J. Brennen as chairman. These committee selections were made: Credentials, Richard McCormick, David Larkin, James A. Clark, G. A. Conrad; organization, Eugene Buckley, W. J. Ryan, T. P. Alcorn, John F. O'Toole; resolutions, W. H. S. Thomson, J. J. Kirby, W. E. Johnston, Lewis Gelbweiser.

The Allegheny members of the credentials committee say that they will be governed entirely by the evidence in reaching a decision on the Westmoreland contest. The convention will convene in the entr-rate hall at noon tomorrow. It has a seating capacity of about 1,200. There are 432 delegates. One hears a great deal of objection to Hall for his selection of the cramped quarters because they cost a little less than the opera house. The objectors fear that it is an evidence of the way he will "doll out" campaign funds in the fall.

VALUE OF HUMAN LIFE.

Carroll D. Wright Thinks Acturail Skill Can Supply a Table of Expectancy.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The International Congress of Actuaries was addressed today by Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, who said in part:

During the last four years I have been frequently asked to furnish a rule or measure of damages to be applied when a man is killed in some mechanical trade. The court's are without the rule and I am unable to supply it. I think, however, that with the assistance of acturial skill such a rule may be applied so that we may have fairly correct tables showing the expectancy of life in the various trades.

Such a work by the congress of the land and other countries would knit the ties between the insurance companies and the people. It needs the actuaries of the different countries to ascertain with reasonable accuracy these expectancy tables.

ACCUSED OF ARSON.

Grocer and Wife Charged With Trying to Burn Store to Get Insurance.

WHEELING, W. VA., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Chief Deputy State Fire Marshal C. H. Beardsley today caused the arrest of Leonard Hilton and wife, on the charge of attempted arson at Barnesville, O. They furnished bond and were released. Hilton conducts a grocery at Barnesville on which he carries insurance amounting to $2,500.

Sunday night an officer, attracted by a light in the rear of the store, investigated and found a candle burning in a vessel filled with excelsior which was saturated with oil. Hilton was out of the city but his wife was in the store at 1 o'clock Monday night. She claims to have gone there after some bananas.

TEMPERANCE SALOON WAS DISMAL FAILURE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—The attempt of the Youngstown Temperance society to sell an alleged non-intoxicating drink here has resulted in a failure. The place was closed here this morning. The people who ran the temperance saloon had several conflicts for selling after hours and on Sunday. The auditor of the state decided that a Dow tax must be taken out for the sale of the beverage, and this also had a dampening effect on the place.

CLARKE TELLS WHY HE DESERTED BRYAN

Ohio Democratic Candidate for Senate Could Not Accept Free Silver.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NAPOLEON, O., Sept. 1.—The Hon. John H. Clarke of Cleveland made his first address of the campaign here today. He is the Democratic candidate for United States senator, in part he said:

"While in Columbus during the state convention I was told that this section of Ohio would be hostile to me because I did not support Mr. Bryan in 1896. I did not support Mr. Bryan then and that is true. After a careful consideration of the issues during that campaign I voluntarily decided that it was not to the best interests of my country that we should have the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

"I have been charged with organizing McKinley clubs and other organizations during the campaign. That is not true. I did not organize McKinley clubs during that campaign, nor did I vote for McKinley. I voted for Palmer and Buckner. In 1900, when the issues were not so harmony with my opinions, I was active in the campaign, using all my resources in the support of Mr. Bryan. Besides I have supported Mr. Johnson against Mr. Hanna in five victorious campaigns in Cleveland. I have made more Democratic speeches in Ohio since 1900 than any other man except Mr. Johnson.

"This is my record, and I have nothing to be sorry for and nothing to apologize for. I have been frank and open with you. I have resorted to no evasion or equivocation. This you must choose between Mr. Hanna and myself."

CHEKIB BEY RECEIVES THE TURKISH VERSION

joke. The expose by Ravadel of the falsity of the official Turkish explanation makes it impossible that the United States will recede from its position of coercing Turkey in the interest of American life and property.

Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, has received from the minister of foreign affairs at Constantinople a dispatch telling the Turkish version of the reported attempt on the life of United States Consul Magelssen at Beirut. It was dated August 30, and originally was sent at the minister's summer house at Bayville, Long Island.

After declaring that the report of the assassination of Mr. Magelssen was absolutely false the dispatch gives a version of the affair practically the same as has been told before in the dispatches from Turkey. It says that the pistol was fired by a man returning from a marriage fete, that the shot was fired in the air, and that it happened just as Mr. Magelssen was passing to his carriage. This dispatch says led the vice consul to believe that a attempt had been made against his life. The man who did the shooting already has been delivered to the judicial authorities. Chekib Bey's dispatch also asserts that order and tranquility prevail at Beirut.

The information contained in the cablegram has been furnished to United States Minister Leishman at Constantinople by the Turkish minister of foreign affairs and to Secretary Hay by the Turkish minister here.

MESSINA, SICILY, Sept. 1.—The United States cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco passed through the straits of Messina at 11:30 a. m. today, bound south. The aeroplane saluted the warships, wishing them good luck.

The contestants in the race were Caldwell and Albert Champion.

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Clothed in the gown that was to have been her wedding dress, the remains of Miss Grace Bixby, who died Saturday evening after an operation for appendicitis, were taken to Delaware, O., today for interment. She was to have married William H. Barkhurst next month.

Strike Benefits Stopped.

The Amalgamated association is said to have stopped paying $10 a week benefits to the strikers at Port Vue, and this is given as the reason that strike was declared off. The tin workers are authority for the statement. The mills are running full and apparently the strike is a closed incident.

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

RICH DOCTOR DRIVEN TO SUICIDE BY SCANDAL

Bride's Death Charged to Him and Woman of Good Family Connections.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LA SALLE, ILL., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Lenny Boehl, 18 years old, a bride of three weeks, died in St. Mary's hospital here Sunday night from the effects of a criminal operation. Dr. Frank W. English, charged with the murder, committed suicide Monday night in the jail at Mendota, a neighboring town. Mrs. Edward Mowery of Mendota, charged with complicity in the crime, is under arrest at Ottawa.

Dr. English has been practicing at Mendota for 20 years. He had a beautiful home there, a wife and two grown daughters, and was reputed to be worth $100,000. Mrs. Mowery, a woman 35 years of age, is well connected. Mrs. Boehl, as Miss Stella Taylor, was one of the prettiest and most popular girls in the young people's social set in Mendota. She was married to Lenny Boehl, an employe of the Illinois Valley Traction company, was opposed by her parents and was a runaway match.

As the result of an investigation into the cause of her death Coroner Dry arose out a warrant Monday for Dr. English and Mrs. Mowery charging both with murder. Sheriff Trumble arrested Dr. English at his home in Mendota at 7:30 o'clock Monday night. The physician was sitting by his fireside surrounded by his family. When the sheriff read the warrant Dr. English almost collapsed. His wife fell in a faint.

Sheriff Trumble then went to arrest Mrs. Mowery. He returned to the lockup at 11 o'clock with the woman. In one of the cells Dr. English was found dead. While under arrest he went to the adjoining cell. Dr. English lay dead upon the floor in a great pool of blood. He had severed the blood vessels in his throat with the blade of a tiny pocketknife.

Mrs. Smith had been taken to St. Mary's hospital Monday morning. She died the same night. The direct cause of her death was blood poisoning which had resulted from an operation performed August 21.

DICKSON LOOKS LIKE A WINNER

Doctor May Have No Opposition for the Republican Nomination for Sheriff.

OLD SOLDIERS WILL DECIDE

If They Determine to Indorse Robert E. Stewart for the District Attorneyship, They Will Pay No Attention to the Shrievalty Selection.

It seemed yesterday as if Dr. James W. Dickson would have clear sailing in the race for the republican nomination for sheriff, so far as the republican leaders are concerned. None of them has any objections to Dr. Dickson, but, of course, as none of them presumes to dictate the personnel of the ticket, Dr. Dickson will have to take his chances in the primaries. So far as it appeared yesterday, no Allegheny man will come out against him, and the old soldiers who were candidates for the shrievalty nomination will allow their claims to subside until it is learned whether or not the old soldiers' organization will indorse Robert E. Stewart for the nomination for district attorney. If Stewart should not be indorsed, then candidates will bob up against Dr. Dickson.

Senator Charles A. Muehlbronner repeated yesterday the reasons he gave in his letter for declining the Allegheny republicans' indorsement for sheriff, and expressed himself as intending to work hard for the success of the republican ticket. As secretary of the county committee he will be able to make his efforts count. He already has talked to his friends who were likely to object to the selection of Dr. Dickson, and has succeeded in transferring to the doctor the enthusiasm which his own friends intended to manifest in working for him.

The Soldiers' Civic league will meet, probably today, to decide whether or not to indorse Robert E. Stewart for the district attorneyship, and if the movement going on for the nomination of Thomas M. Marshall for that office should continue to a successful end and the league should understand that there is no likelihood of Stewart's nomination, then it will transfer its attack to the shrievalty nomination. Republican leaders were talked to yesterday by lawyers relative to Marshall's candidacy. Mr. Marshall is away from the city, but his friends in the legal profession have been active in his behalf and busy heralding the advantages that would accrue to the republican ticket through the nomination of Marshall.

Murry A. Verner returned yesterday from his cottage on Chautauqua lake, but his train was three hours late and the meeting scheduled to be held between him and other counsellors of the citizens' party did not take place, at least, in the afternoon. Mr. Verner said he did not expect to meet any politicians until today, when he will take up active work for his party's ticket.

County Recorder J. D. O'Neil yesterday denied that he knew any thing of the custom followed by one of his clerks, H. Graham, to advertise an agency for notarial pocket seals when notifying notaries public that their commission had arrived from Harrisburg. Mr. Graham also wrote a certificate showing that Mr. O'Neil knew nothing about it and stating that he, Graham, had been sending out such notices for four years, therefore under Mr. O'Neil's predecessor. Mr. O'Neil said he had suspended Graham for two weeks and had notified other clerks that during business hours they must confine themselves strictly to the duties of the office. Graham has been employed in the recorder's office ten years, while Mr. O'Neil has not been in office a year.

DUQUESNE GREYS' DAY.

Program Completed for the Celebration of the Seventy-Second Anniversary.

Duquesne Grays, Eighteenth regiment, N. G. P., yesterday completed the program for the celebration of its seventy-second anniversary. The affair will be held on the old Clarke property, Forbes street and Craft avenue, now used by the regiment as an armory, on September 24, beginning at 3 p. m. The veteran corps, which has the affair in charge, desires it to be known that it has no connection with the organization that has advertised a drill at one of the street car parks on September 5.

The program is as follows: Guard mount, by details from the Eighteenth regiment; exhibition drill by the Boys' brigade of the Church of the Ascension, under command of Col. H. P. Bope, commander-in-chief of the Boys' Brigade of America; meeting of the veteran corps; reading of the historical record; addresses by several men of national reputation; evening parade by the Eighteenth regiment; luncheon for the members of the regiment and the Boy's brigade.

Invitations will be sent out in a few days to all the old members who have sent or may yet send their addresses. There will be no charge for admission, but the attendance will be restricted to invited guests and friends of the members.

The committee of arrangements consists of W. E. Watson, chairman; Col. R. W. Guethrie, treasurer; A. A. Jackson, secretary; Lieut. Col. L. T. Brown, maj. John Crowley, Capt. H. F. Davis, Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Keenan, Col. A. J. Logan, Col. W. C. Connelly, Jr., W. P. Barry, Col. Chalmers McKibben, Lieut. Col. John P. Penney, Frank G. Paulson and E. Wertheimer.

ONE MORE CHANCE FOR FREE DELIVERY

Postoffice Inspector Frank O'Brien and another inspector to be appointed will make the final report to the department at Washington on the need of extension of free delivery service to Mt. Oliver, Crafton, Sheridan and other suburban places. The order which was issued some time ago to establish free delivery in these districts was recently revoked by Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow and now the matter has again been referred to Inspector O'Brien. It is expected that his report will be favorable, as he reported favorably on the matter about two years ago.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS BREAK A DEADLOCK

The board of school directors of the Twelfth ward met in the O'Hara school house, Smallman and Twenty-fifth streets last night and broke the deadlock which has existed over the election of two teachers. Two teachers were appointed for the next year and the resignation of Miss Nettie Lowenstine was accepted. The vacancies were filled by the appointment of Miss Catherine Rowe and Miss Elizabeth Swords.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON MAY VISIT PITTSBURGH WHEN RACES END

There is a possibility that Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of Shamrock III., will visit Pittsburgh before his return to England at the conclusion of the present series of races. E. W. Dewey of Kittanning, president of the Allegheny River Improvement association, who was a guest of Sir Thomas on the latter's yacht, "Erin," at New York early in the race series, has extended to the nervy Englishman an invitation to come to this city. Sir Thomas has expressed his desire to see the sights of the industrial center of the globe, and has furthermore said that if he can possibly arrange it he will come here.

Mr. Dewey was in Pittsburgh yesterday. It is known that if Sir Thomas decides to come here he will be well received by many who have admired his gameness and his sportsmanlike conduct during all the years since he began to attempt lifting the America's cup. Pittsburgh herself is known as a sporty city, and there were many from here who watched the yacht races until it became a settled fact that the Reliance was the sure victor.

ALLEGHENY FIREMAN TO MANAGE A HOTEL

Resigns from the Department on the Day of His Marriage. Other Changes.

Louis Hack, captain of No. 9 engine company of Allegheny, yesterday afternoon sent in his resignation to Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the department of public safety. Capt. Hack was married last night to Mrs. Julia G. Doyster, a saloonkeeper at River avenue and Pine street, Allegheny, and he resigned his position to manage the hotel and saloon of his wife. No one has yet been appointed captain in Hack's place, but his successor will probably be named today.

Joseph Bottles of Woods Run avenue was appointed a fireman yesterday by Mayor Wyman, but he has not yet been assigned to a position.

Harry McKelvey, inspector of sidewalks, was discharged yesterday by Director E. J. McIlvain of the department of public works, but no one will be appointed for a time in his place. Mayor Wyman said that the reason McKelvey was discharged is that expenses in the public works department must be cut down. Other discharges may follow this week.

THREE STAYED AT HOME.

McKeesport Officials Refuse to Go on a Trip to Williamsport.

Owing to the clamor at the last meeting of McKeesport councils over the expense, three of the city officials refused to accompany the party which started for Williamsport yesterday to attend the convention of the league of Pennsylvania cities of the third class. Those who went are City Treasurer Samuel Milliken, Controller C. E. Soles, City Engineer Thomas W. White, City Clerk James Brown, Jr., and several members of councils. Mayor G. J. F. Falkenstein, President John N. Dersam of select council and President D. M. White of common council, refused to go. The expense of the trip is to be defrayed from a $200 appropriation made by councils.

Ex-Councilman James N. Wampler, vice president of the league, is with the party, and will try to bring the convention to McKeesport next year.

Played With Matches and May Die.

James Hastings, 13 years old, of Brown avenue, Turtle Creek, was probably fatally burned yesterday afternoon. With several companions he was playing with matches near his home and they became ignited. Before his burning clothing could be extinguished young Hastings was burned about the face, head and body. He was removed to his home, but there is little hope of saving his life.

Says Her Dead Husband Annoys Her.

Mrs. James Crawford, 65 years old, of Kincaid street, near Evaline, yesterday complained to the Lawrenceville police that her dead husband annoys her by coming down the chimney accompanied by many other women. She said the party on its arrival drinks freely and tries to induce her to take poisoned whisky.

Would Locate Peter Rayburn.

The whereabouts of Peter Rayburn, aged 13 years, son of Martin Rayburn of First street, are unknown to his parents. The boy ran away from home two months ago. His father heard shortly afterward that he had been committed to the House of Refuge in Baltimore. On August 25 he escaped and boarded a train for Pittsburgh, but no further word has come.

Tonight, tonight, the great CREATORE opens the NEW EXPOSITION with his heart-string, twanging music.

HAGG BROTHERS DID NOT CALL ON HENRY

But They Returned With a Nest Egg from Estate of a Deceased Uncle.

Andrew and John Hagg, one a South Side and the other a Penn avenue saloonkeeper, have returned from Germany, whither they went to secure their distributive share of the estate of an uncle, John Becker, a Lorraine coal operator, who died some months ago. The Haggs found that the estate was not so large as had been reported. Becker was worth about $50,000, which he left to his sisters and brothers, five of them share and share alike. As there are four Haggs they will all get one-fourth of one-fifth, or one-twentieth of the entire estate. Joseph Hagg, a younger brother, who lives on the hilltop, was the recipient of many congratulations from his friends yesterday, for he was married only two years ago and the money will make a nice little nest egg.

FREIGHT JUMPER'S SOLES CUT OFF BY WHEELS

In attempting to jump a freight train at Copeland, on the Pennsylvania railroad, last night, Roy Smith, 22 years old, of No. 2004 Penn street, Harrisburg, missed the hand bar on the rear car and fell under the wheels. The soles of both his shoes were cut off and his left heel was bruised. His coat caught on the trucks and Smith was dragged over the rough roadbed. He was sent to the West Penn hospital. The accident to Smith was discovered through his companion having his hat blown off.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand 24 hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes the unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day and get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50-cent and $1 sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Pittsburgh Daily Gazette. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

It is a thorough and complete line. There is not a single unlovely pattern in the whole selection. We have set out out to do a tremendous carpet business this autumn, and if selling high-grade carpets for lowest prices, if extensive variety, if in the making and the laying of the carpets best workmanship is a prime consideration, then we shall have no hindrance in accomplishing our set purpose.

People who want carpets either for one room, or for all rooms, of the house, are invited to consult the following prices on new patterns of Autumn carpets.

All-wool Ingrain, Terry, green, red and blue, 75c the yard.

Carpet Sizes in New Rugs.

Many housewives, especially those living in houses where the floors are of hardwood, prefer a rug. We are selling more carpet sizes in rugs than in any former season. We do not undertake to account for the demand. It is true, however, and we are amply prepared to meet every call. If there is any favoritism it leans to the side of Brussels rugs. Here are some of our prices:

New Brussels Rugs—12x9 feet	$15.00 each.

New Velvet Rugs—12x9 feet	$22.50 each.

Novelties in Imported Robes

While these unmade robes are classed as robes, in reality they are only the basis from which you, or your dressmaker, can evolve that which is most beautiful in feminine dress.

Our new lines of these handsome robes have just been opened. We invite the earnest attention of every woman who aspires to what is correct in dress. Such materials as taffeta, crepe de chine, and robes entirely of lace. Brief descriptions:

Of black Taffeta, trimmed with wood fiber lace and additional material to make the new long coat effect, $40 and up to $60.

Of black Crepe Veleur, something really magnificent in an imported robe, $75.

There are many Zibelines that have been brought out for Fall wear, and we have a full variety of the best. For instance, a new 50-inch wide Panne Zibeline for $1.50 a yard; a new Zibeline Diamont, 46 inches wide, for $1.50 a yard; a new Melton Zibeline, 46 inches wide, for $1.50 a yard; a new mixed Zibeline, oxford and blue, 46 inches wide, for $1.25 a yard.

Then there are the new Broadcloths, one in particular imported by us, and controlled by us for Greater Pittsburg. The prices are $1.50 and $2 a yard. By securing control of this estimable Broadcloth we save the purchaser at least 50c on each yard. It is a fine and handsome material for the elegant costume, the color range embracing about every color and its shade.

We have the new and exquisite glove finished Broadcloths, in all the street and evening shades, $1.25 and easily along to $4 a yard.

And not the least attractive in our large gathering of new woolens are the Covert Cloths for making stylish top coats for women. Many different colors, including the decidedly popular tan and castor mixtures. The range of widths in these new coverts is 50 to 56 inches. Price range, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $2 and along to $3.50 a yard.

New Velutinas.

Our new Velutinas will be found correct for evening gowns and for waists.

Plain Velutinas in pastel colorings, the popular shades for evening gowns, $2.50 a yard.

Boys' New School Suits, $4.

Get the boy something cheaper if you wish and see how quickly he knocks the suit to pieces. Biggest mistake parents ever made, this thing of buying cheap clothing for boys. This is not a $4 suit, but one that any other store, if it had it, would tack on about $2 more. We choose to make a specialty of it—choose to let it go to the youthful wearer for the smallest profit possible. It is a double-breasted suit and there is a variety of cloths for choice. As many boyish colors and mixtures as there are boyish tastes. Bring along your boy and see if the suit is not much better than we have attempted to describe.

Tables piled high with other styles of boys' School Suits. Notably—

Norfolk Suits, each suit with two pairs of trousers, one pair bloomer, the other regulation. Sizes for boys 3 to 15 years. The suits are made of an extra quality of blue worsted or blue cheviot, and the price is only $3.

Boys' fine double-breasted Suits of English cheviot, Scotch tweed and undressed worsted, prices beginning at $7 a suit and rising by easy stages to $15.

New Sailor Suits for boys 6 to 10 years of age, blue serge and cheviot, either a new style of sailor collar or a new Eton collar. Prices, $4 and up to $12.

Wednesday, September 2, 1903.

Andrew Carnegie, addressing the Iron and Steel Institute, was optimistic and interesting as usual. Mr. Carnegie always has something to say that, if not absolutely new, is yet different from the way others have thought it. Dealing with iron and steel he has the subject at his tongue's end, and in his time has made many fulfilled prophecies and offered many useful suggestions. Dealing with national or international affairs, if not always practical, Mr. Carnegie at least shows a breadth of patriotism ample for the covering of two or more great countries.

There is likely to be something doing in the way of removal of poles and wires. Director E. M. Bigelow has put on his war paint and feathers and declares there will be no more delay about enforcing the law that commands all wires to go underground. If the companies do not put the wires under, Mr. Bigelow says, the city will put them there and the companies will pay the bill. The director must be commended for this stand. Laws and ordinances are of value in proportion as they are enforced. Public interest demands the burial of the wires. Ample time was provided for the work. What has not been done at leisure needs to be done in a hurry.

Belmar, in New Jersey, had an illustration yesterday of one of the evil phases of the lynching craze. The intended victim of the furious mob was rescued just in time by officers of the law and put in prison. This halted the violent proceedings for a time, during which an investigation was made that disclosed the fact that the object of mob wrath was guilty of nothing save a state of beastly drunkenness. A mob is just as likely to be wrong as right in its assumptions and it is always wrong in its acts. The law is painfully slow at times and occasionally ineffective in that it does not secure justice, but the delay and uncertainty of the law are still better than the haste and awful uncertainty of the lynching mob. It never does justice, though it sometimes wreaks an appropriate vengeance.

While protesting that it has no responsibility in the matter, and that no deliberate attempt was made to murder Vice Consul Magelssen, Turkey has shown commendable activity in making five arrests of persons suspected of the shooting. The Turk has no adequate conception of official responsibility, but when prodded by a determined power can be compelled to give satisfaction by the punishment of some one. Sometimes under stress the wrong man is executed, but there is always the consolation of knowing that, though innocent of the particular crime charged, the fellow is deserving of punishment on general principles. But it is more difficult to get the Turkish authorities to appreciate the necessity of giving protection to foreigners in advance of assault or attempted atrocities.

There have been several sensational reports from the east concerning labor demands upon the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroads. They have actual foundation to the extent that certain employes have respectfully requested some concessions. There is nothing serious in the situation. The so-called grievances have been taken under advisement in a friendly spirit, with official assurance that they will be redressed as far as possible. The principal "demand" is for two days a month "off" for the telegraphers who now work seven days a week, and one week of vacation each year. The principal trouble about it is that the company has difficulty in getting enough men for the stations, as things are, without considering extra men for periodical relief, but it may be taken for granted the difficulty will be overcome in some way.

In the tariff controversy which has broken out in England the free traders are denying that industries can be hurt or helped permanently by tariff legislation, and cite the case of the Welsh tin plate industry as a triumphant example, on the ground that it has survived the blow given to it by the McKinley tariff and is now as extensive an interest as it was before. This has brought out a disclosure of the effects really produced by the McKinley tariff and the establishment of the American tin plate industry. An enormous shrinkage of capital took place, mills which cost $225,000 were sold for $35,000; thousands of the best operatives emigrated to the United States and thousands had to subsist upon short-time wages. The industry survived the blow and the export of tin plates is now larger than ever, but it is far from what it would have been if the annual increase of the decade 1878-88 had been maintained. The establishment of the American industry through the McKinley tariff arrested the development of the Welsh tin plate industry and still hinders it.

One of the worst features of the Macedonian situation is the antipathy which exists between the Christian nationalities. It is alleged that the Greeks are being persecuted by the Bulgarians and the prime minister of Greece is appealing to the powers in behalf of the Greek inhabitants of Macedonia, urging that Turkey be given a free hand and be requested "to use the utmost severity in restoring order." Turkey can be severe enough, but does not know how to maintain order. Under Austrian rule Moslems and Christians live peaceably together in Bosnia, once in the same condition as Macedonia is now, but Turkey knows nothing of law apart from the Koran, which is at once the religious manual and the law code of Moslems. All persons who are not Moslems are by that fact outlaws and are not entitled to civil rights. To set up a system of government and jurisprudence which shall ignore the religious beliefs of people in meting out justice is something quite inconceivable to the Moslem mind, and should it be attempted would dissolve all obligations of allegiance to the sultan, whose legal authority is derived solely from the fact that he is commander of the faithful.

A Tame Convention.

The Democratic state convention, which meets at Harrisburg today, lacks the enthusiasm of the convention last year at Erie, though the prospects for Democratic success are just as good now as then. This means, of course, that there was no prospect of success then, but there had been so active a canvass for the place at the head of the ticket that the noise of that contest was mistaken for popular interest, and when the convention met, and even after the interest of the anti-Pattison men had been chilled by their defeat, hope was so strong with the unterrified that many returned to their homes dreaming dreams from which there was the usual rude awakening in November, though a trifle ruder than usual. The Democratic organization, accustomed as it is to defeat, has not yet recovered from its shock of last fall, and as a consequence there is no competition for places on the ticket and little interest in the cut-and-dried program that has been arranged to make things easier for the delegates. Any uncertainty that there may have been concerning the names on the slate was of the mild sort and centered around the possibility that those selected for the slaughter might refuse to be led to the sacrificial altar. There has been not even curiosity with regard to the platform, though there are important questions on which Democrats differ radically and concerning which they might be expected to quarrel. It has been accepted in advance that none of the things that cause Democrats to differ shall be touched on, and as the party went to defeat last year on a platform of state issues in which there was then some interest, there is now no real concern as to the somewhat similar platform, which it is said will be adopted today. The only interest that attaches to today's gathering relates wholly to contests for seats in the convention, and these contests have no real bearing outside of their effect on the Democratic organizations in the counties from which they come. It will therefore be an unimportant gathering at the state capital, and one which will not interfere with the politics of the commonwealth much more than with the religion of its people. The minority party in this state is not in fighting trim this year. But as there is no encouragement for it to attempt a fight this cannot be wondered at.

For Good Roads.

A good deal has been said and written about good roads in this state with a general and vague idea that something revolutionary is needed in legislation to effect the desired object. Judge George S. Criswell of Venango county has just brought to the attention of the public the fact that full performance of duty by public officials is the first requisite. At the spring term of court he reminded constables that it was their duty to make return of any neglected roads, or dangerous spots on the highways in their respective districts. As a result a number of road commissioners and the board of county commissioners have been indicted at the term of court which opened on Monday, charged with failure to repair roads and bridges.

Judge Criswell's example ought to be followed in other counties. There is no better method for giving road supervisors a sense of their official responsibility. There is no better means for obtaining from the men who work out road taxes a proper return in labor for the credits they claim. It is a fact that large sums are ostensibly spent upon the public roads annually, but through lack of system and failure to require honest work for the time spent, the roads get no better and frequently they are allowed to deteriorate. If, however, road supervisors are prosecuted for neglect of duty there will be a different order of things. That is one way to prevent men from becoming candidates for that office who have no other qualification for the job than the tolerant good nature to give a loafing taxpayer credit for full time.

Good roads will be had in every township, with or without state appropriations when local revenues are fully and intelligently applied. First, the road commissioner should understand the primary principles of road building and not construct his roadways hollow in the middle so they must wash out. Second, taxpayers or their representatives must give a fair day's work for a day's pay. Third, repairs must be made as soon as needed, regardless of season. Rigid application of these fundamental principles will lead naturally to the acquisition of shaping scrapers and stone crushers, and the final result will be good roads. Judge Criswell is entitled to commendation.

Colombia's Dignity.

Colombia offers as an excuse for rejecting the Panama Canal treaty that its dignity was wounded by the practical representations of Secretary Hay and Minister Beaupre that the United States would not consent to any radical amendments. Colombian dignity is as sensitive as an exposed nerve in a decayed tooth. Because it has nothing to cover it, every breath of cold air gives pain, every touch of hard practicality produces agony. The poisonous gases from the rotten shell inflame it and cause morbid sensibility.

It is too bad that Hay and Beaupre should wound the dignity of Colombia when that is about all it has left. The state is bankrupt it is torn by revolution, honeycombed by corruption, incapacitated by stupidity, but it retains its dignity. Now that has been wounded by the unfeeling diplomatic representatives of a great country who gave practical information as to what the United States would expect for its money. On their side they proposed to pay $10,000,000 hard cash and $250,000 yearly, and in return they expected to have the treaty ratified in the form in which it was submitted. Poor, beggared Colombia was not to be allowed to change the terms agreed to by her minister plenipotentiary. Her dignity as an independent nation was assailed. So she drew herself proudly together and with all the pomposity of which her senate was capable said: "Take back your gold."

Cervantes, with all his keen sense of humor, failed to exaggerate the Spaniard's fine sense of honor. Don Quixote drew a pretty fine edge, but the Colombian senate has drawn it finer and Minister Herran adds to it by affecting to feel the injury himself. With $10,000,000 cash and an annuity of $250,000 on one side and the attenuated dignity of a bankrupt nation on the other, Colombia prefers to preserve that dignity to having prosperity. And to think that this fine sense of honor was entirely lost upon the United States until the Colombians were compelled to explain it. Gross American politicians suspected blackmail and charged bad faith and might forever have attributed Colombia attitude to such base motives had not the Colombians themselves avowed the possession of a dignity that must be maintained at all hazards. It is enough to make a Frenchman weep.

The Weakness of Absolutism.

Details of the recent labor disturbances in South Russia show that they were of a more serious character than any which have taken place in this country. The important city of Baku, the center of the Russian oil industry, was entirely without railroad trains or street cars for 10 days, shops and factories were closed and during two nights the city was in total darkness. Upwards of 45,000 workmen were out on strike and they were absolutely masters of the situation until the government was able to get troops into the city.

In Odessa and Nikolaieff 70,000 men are said to have been on strike. The total number of workmen involved by the strikes taking place in various cities at the same time is estimated at not less than half a million. Much property was destroyed and many acts of incendiarism are reported. Numerous collisions occurred between the troops and the strikers. At Kieff street fighting continued for three days, during which 60 persons were killed and nearly 100 severely wounded. In one battle which took place in the streets of Nikolaieff 12 persons were killed outright and 200 wounded. It is computed that during the disturbances some 200 strikers were killed and fully 2,000 wounded. Numerous arrests have been made and about 400 strikers are undergoing punishment for taking part in riots.

When riots occur in this country it is the habit of European critics to trace a connection between them and the weakness of authority in a democratic republic, but as a matter of fact riots are put down promptly and effectively. When a strike degenerates into riot it is done for. But it appears that in autocratic Russia, where authority is absolute, riot can develop to an extent unknown in this country. The case is fresh evidence of the fact that the strongest public authority is that which is founded upon public opinion.

Maine and Prohibition.

It is interesting to note that in Prohibition Maine an agitation has been begun for the resubmission of Prohibition to the people. It is no secret that in Maine, as in other places that have tried Prohibition, there has not been suppression of the sale of liquor, but that it goes on and not only goes on secretly, but is openly tolerated in many localities. With this condition admitted it is inevitable that sooner or later public sentiment in Maine will respond to the agitation for a local option law such as prevails in Massachusetts and was recently adopted in Vermont, after long experience with Prohibition, especially as the agitation is conducted not by drunkards, but by men of standing. Vermont found conditions to be such as they are in Maine, and as a consequence of agitation and discussion the people voted for a local option system which permits each community to either license or prohibit the sale of liquor. If there is not a sufficient public sentiment to cause the enforcement of Prohibition regulations Prohibition becomes a farce. It became a farce in Vermont, and that state is now dealing with the liquor problem in a different way, but in a way that was previously tested and approved in its general aspects in Massachusetts. The people of Maine are in a position to contrast and compare their Prohibition system with the local option system of Massachusetts, and later, after Vermont is able to report, it will be able to make comparison with local option in that state as well. The agitation that will begin with a public meeting in Bangor tonight proceeds from a knowledge of the impossibility of producing the ideal condition sought by Prohibition laws. It will also have before it the experience of other states with Prohibition and with license laws, whether local or general. The agitation may not bear immediate fruit, but it will undoubtedly lead to results in time.

The friends of the man at Mathoro, Pa., who killed himself with a revolver while trying to make an end of a sick cat are now convinced that when it seems to be necessary to kill a sick cat it will be better to try kindness.

It now appears that the real effect of the Ohio Democratic state convention was to make an issue on the money question in the Democratic party instead of between Republicans and Democrats.

In considering what is "a reasonable time" to give Colombia to ratify the Panama canal treaty before turning to the Nicaragua route, it will be as well to temper justice with mercy.

While Japan and Russia are represented to be in an entirely amicable mood toward each other, the fools of their powder magazines continue to be carefully inspected for leaks.

King Edward's promotion of Emperor Francis Joseph to the rank of field marshal in the British army is not only a good thing for the tents, but makes business for the tailor.

Bryan has revised his Ohio schedule and will cut our only those dates on which he was billed to star with the gold bug nominee for United States senator.

It is only natural that former Congressman Lentz should object to would-be Senator Clarke. Mr. Clarke seems to be really sensible on some things.

The Garman and Lenahan factions from Luzerne county threaten to disturb the dead calm of the Democratic state convention.

David B. Hill is now 69 years old and has his own opinion about the man who sprung that ancient gag about the good dying young.

It seems to be generally agreed by this time that the bull pool in cotton is not in business for its health exclusively.

The liquor in Maine has become so bad that a movement has been started for resubmission of Prohibition.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

The dates for the czar's visit to Rome have been fixed for four days between October 16 and 25.

Count Tolstoi is obliged to devote half of his time to answering letters and receiving visitors.

Salem, Mass., has honored Secretary Moody by naming one of her public squares after him, in spite of the fact that the name of Gen. Miles was first proposed for the new square.

Dr. Murphy, the veteran bishop of Hobart, has the distinction of being, since the death of Leo, the oldest Roman Catholic prelate. Dr. Murphy was born on the day of the battle of Waterloo.

Gen. Botha and several other Boer leaders are said to be interested in a gigantic South African colonization scheme. A company with a capital of $10,000,000 is to be organized for the purchase of 800,000 acres of land.

Berlin newspapers announce the death at Rostock of Capt. Wilhelm Bade, who was one of the officers of the sailing vessel Hansa when it was crushed by the ice near Greenland in 1869. For 200 days the crew drifted on a floe before there was a chance to get ashore. Subsequently Capt. Bade lectured all over Germany on the thrilling experiences of this ice trip. In recent years he has commanded tourist boats on northern trips.

While attending the recent regatta at Travemunde, Prince Henry of Prussia walked a few miles to the railway station at Eutin. He was recognized by some boys, and presently had such a crowd about him as to impede his progress. To get rid of the boys he resorted to stratagem, telling them he would give a mark to the one who would first reach a place known as the Waldhalle. They all started on a run, and the prince duly rewarded the winner on reaching the place.

Another Needed Reform.

We especially need reform in the spirit and manner of administering the naturalization laws, says the Journal of Commerce. The present helter-skelter manner of admitting to citizenship in all sorts of courts is a constant violation of the spirit and letter of the law as it now stands, and is nothing less than a national scandal. The making of new citizens should be a serious business, and the responsibilities connected with it should be discharged with care and conscience. They should be restricted to federal courts, and the judges should be held to a close observance of the requirements of the law at the same time that the requirements are made much more exacting than they are now. Then no man should be clothed with the right of suffrage in any state until he has been vested with the privileges and immunities of a citizen of the United States.

Yachts and Ocean Commerce.

We are building cup defenders every two years or so and building them well, but we are not building a single ship for ocean commerce. We can win at yacht racing right along, but the people on the other side of the Atlantic where the Shamrock comes from continue to send out monster steamships and to do our ocean carrying trade for us. Isn't it about time that we had a little competition in the business line as well as in yachting? Yachts and racing machines are all well enough in their way, but we have ship yards that would like nothing better than to be constructing the biggest steamships afloat. And they ought to be doing it, too.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

JOYVILLE'S COUNTY FAIR.

Through the days o' parchin' sunshine, through the days o' drenchin' rain
We have wrastled with the meadow glass, the garden truck an' grain,
An' at last we're on the journey for to claim our rightful share
O' the glory for the farmer at the Joyville county fair.

You that come from out the city for to see the hosses race
Needn't think you know the pleasures of our county meetin' place,
For it's no one but us farmers has the kind of eyes to see
What's the real inside good time o' the Joyville jubilee.

Mother brings some canned tomatoes an' they stand upon a shelf
With her name in printed letters; an' the county judge himself
Tries a spoonful, tries another, smiles an' says he'd like to state
Them's the tastin'est tomattusses he ever, ever ate.

In the art hall, where the ladies go to learn the latest stitch,
Sister's fancy work exhibit, 'brotdered table clothes an' sich,
Draws a monstrous crowd o' people, an' they praise it loud an' free
Till it's all in all the greatest day in sister's history.

Down among the pens an' stables an' the heaps o' fodder corn,
Daddy's got a speckled heifer with a ribbon on her horn,
Bud has took the silver medal in the watermelon line,
An' the loudest rooster crowin' in the poultry house is mine.

You may shout about St. Louis an' your Pan-Americans,
With their lakes an' lordly buildin's an' their camel caravans,
But I'll bet my crowin' rooster against your shoe lace, if you dare,
That they ain't a little circumstances to Joyville's county fair.

—Newark News.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

If it is not one thing it's another.
Now it's the Stoneboro fair.
As fairs go this is one of the best in the state or anywhere. It is, or has been so good that heaven has smiled on it for seven years or more, while other fairs were drowned out with rain.

And that's no joke for some of the fairs up that way were ruined on year after year until their stock could not stand any more water, and they just quit.

But all this time Stoneboro was lobbedobbing with Jupiter Pluvius, pleasing the people and gathering in the stuff with which to pay premiums, beautify the fair grounds and build up a back account. Whether the managers continue to be on the winning side remains to be seen.

It is supposed, however, that Jim Williams is still hand in glove with Jupiter P. He was a few weeks ago, as shown by the matchless weather provided for the Jackson Center Harvest Home. He is one of the promoters of the Stoneboro fair, and is everywhere regarded as a promoter who promotes.

And there are others—you.

But then it is no difference who gets the credit so the goods are there when you present your ticket.

Stoneboro is a few miles to the left, or right of Jackson Center, accordingly as you are going from or coming to Pittsburgh. Mercer is remodeling its jail, and when completed an effort may be made to convert Stoneboro into a suburb of the county seat, and thus get the fair.

* * * * *

County fairs are coming to the front again, judging from reports in county papers. They took quite a slump a few years ago, and no one appeared to know the reason why, nor did anyone seem to care much.

It may have been on account of the low price of wool, and the general decline in farm products. But now that the wool is away up again and with a healthy demand for stock and products at fair prices, the farmer feels like making a show of his products, and of himself, for that matter.

And why not show himself? Is he not a first-class specimen of God's handiwork? He may not be as pretty as a picture clipped from a fashion plate, nor as smart looking as some of the town and city specimens, but he is all there—good, mind and body, with every part in good working order.

As a doer of things the farmer man is hard to beat, and he takes pride in doing everything well, even to doing a professional horse trader, or walloping a boy that needs it. And there are country boys who need it all right—at least there used to be some. After the country schoolmaster went out of fashion there was a disposition to neglect the boy in this particular, but experience has taught the farmer that neglecting the boy is worse in the end than neglecting his fences, for the fences can be rebuilt, but you can't rebuild a boy; how can you repair one that is badly out of gear, so that he will be as good as new.

The country fair is an oasis in the life of a country boy, and he keeps his eye on the date as steadily as if it were the date set for him to be married or hanged.

* * * * *

The farmer man is not a new institution, but as old as the hills. In fact he earned the first dollar ever earned on this earth, and was doing business here before any of the tradesmen or professors arrived.

Pliny, the elder, who lived in the first century of the Christian era, was a close observer and a careful chronicler of what he saw, or heard or figured out. He notes in one of the many books he wrote, the following concerning an ancient farmer:

"Cincinnatus was plowing his four jugers of land upon the Vaticanian hills—the same that are still known as the Quintian meadows—when the messenger brought him the dictatorship, finding him, tradition says, stripped to the work."

These four jugers of land are now owned by the pope of Rome and occupied as gardens and pleasure grounds.

Lucius Quinticus Cincinnatus was an uncompromising patrician, being for Rome first, last and all the time. The young politicians got into a bad scrape and sent for the old man, as Pliny tells us. It didn't take him long to straighten things out, for he was back at the plow in two weeks later. However, in 439 B. C. he had to give up his farm and give his whole time and attention to the dictatorship. And he fetched the Romans out all right.

And even in this day we have to send farmers to congress and put them in high places in order to save the country. It was always so and always will be so.

"The agricultural population," says Cato, "produces the bravest men, the most valiant soldiers and a class of citizens the least given of all to evil designs."

Marcus Porcius Cato, as you may remember, was the fellow who dared oppose Caesar, and at one time it looked as though he had him beaten, and he had as far as argument was concerned, but Caesar had the army, and with it won out. But knowing he was right the grand old statesman told his followers to respect the powers above them, make friends with their rulers and live right as near as they knew how and could. As for himself he went into a quiet retreat, read Plato's Phaedo, in which the subject of death is fully treated, including an account of the death of Socrates by an eye witness, together with observations on a future life.

All this Cato read and considered carefully, and wound up by stabbing himself in the breast. He felt that he was too old to enter upon a campaign of education against Caesar, and that he might as well join Plato and the many philosophers gone before, and with them enjoy the freedom and prosperity of the republic they had so long advocated. A republic, something like ours, was the ideal government of Plato, as well as Cato, and other really great men of their time.

It was while contemplating Plato's arguments in favor of a future and a better life that Cato says, according to Addison:

"It must be so. Plato, thou reasonest well!
Else whence this pleasing hope, this fond desire,
This longing after immortality?
Or whence this secret dread and inward horror
Of falling into naught?"

But we wander, as the preacher says sometimes—wander far away from Stoneboro fair, which isn't a good thing to do just at this time.

Of cattle the finest, of horses the best, of sheep the nicest, of pigs the fattest, and of all things that grow in the earth or on it the choicest—all to be seen and enjoyed on the fair grounds for one price of admission.

If you are fond of horse racing—or speeding, if you prefer a less sporty name—you find it right here, and good and straight, too. There are no put up jobs to get your money, nor any holding in to keep from making a record. Everything is on the square. At least the managers say so, and they ought to know.

Promoter Williams announces that he may be found in "Ladies' Hall" at all times. This goes far toward substantiating the statement of "The Western Press" that wherever the best is there is Jim Williams also. He is not only a good friend of the press in general, and The Gazette in particular, but he is looking for you, and will show you a good time—if you will allow him.

It looked a little squally yesterday, but the weather man allowed he could pull off a couple of fair days, and he is making a good stagger at it, with satisfactory prospects of final success.

Are there any ladies there?

Go to, thou man! There are ladies there who will do your heart good and make you feel that life is worth living, if for nothing else than to enjoy their company. And lots of this, too, hale, hearty and happy.

If your face is clean and you behave yourself like a gentleman you will find them sociable and interesting and altogether lovely.

For particulars concerning matrimony you will have to ask them, it being a purely personal matter.

Unbearable Tyranny.

The Kansas school mamas and masters who "view with alarm" the tendency of school boards in that state to "forbid courting by teachers during school terms" are quite right to denominate this as unbearable tyranny. Affirming that "a large percentage of teachers are of marriageable age," they decline to surrender their "sacred and inalienable right to court and be courted." Shades of John Brown and Dave Anthony—the apostle of freedom and the champion of the hair trigger—we should hope so! If no schoolma'ams had been courted what would Kansas be today? A half populated desert.—New York World.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Postal Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—If you expected to be regarded as a worthy follower of "Big Bill" in Dewey's Mecca naturally discuss the morning it was essential that you wear a white panama rag with black vitriol. That was the uniform handwearing of each member of the Dewey association. The occasion was the picnic at a grove which was reached by boat, given by Dewey to his worthy followers and their families. All flights except for several blocks either way from the historic "pump" at Twenty-eighth street was aflame with bunting fancy before 9 o'clock this morning, while the great Dewey banner, bearing a colossal portrait of the chief himself, together with quotations from the sighs of political wisdom which have fallen from his lips in the last few months waved placidly overhead. It was a great day for the "gang" sure. Dewey had promised that there should be an outing with everything doing on the boat at Bridesmoor, and he was keeping his word. How many bands of music helped to keep up harmony for the members when they loaded for the boat I do not pretend to know. But I saw the procession move and it seemed to me as if every 15 or 20 merry-makers had a musician to themselves. Down at the foot of Twenty-second street, near the Cedar Island and Rockaway steamers was the Dewey family. Barges and tugs were decorated with streamers telling what the excursion was and who was the head of it, while flags of Ireland flapped broadly in company with our glory from every point where a flag could be broken out. The first got in motion in due time and merrily sounded the music as the chief, on the hurricane deck of the flagship, nonchalantly a welcome to everyone and told all his guests to enjoy themselves to the limit. Reports have reached Manhattan that they are obeying his injunctions. The jollification is in full swing as this is written.

Eagles at the Fashion Show.

More than 20 Pittsburgh Eagles were seen at the fashion show in Madison square garden this evening. They were cramming the eyeballs with a care and thoughtlessness that suggested new dressing for certain Pittsburgh wives, although none of the Eagles would admit that they were trying to select patterns with that commendable purpose.

Sherman Statue a Beauty.

The magnificent bronze statue of Gen. Sherman, on horseback, and with the female figure of "Peace" leading him on, which stands at the main entrance of Central park, at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, is a striking figure in the landscape. There are many statues in New York, but no other standing forth in this original bronze yellow. The new statue has not had time to get weatherbeaten and dingy yet and is beautiful enough to arrest attention even when the sun is not shining.

Nobody Worrying About the Yachts.

No race today. Who cares? All interest in the contest seems to have fizzled out. There was never a crowd in front of any of the newspaper bulletin boards today, and when the announcement was put out that there would be no attempt to race a rhumous chuckle of derision rose up and down Broadway from Park row to Herald square.

May Be Sunshine Today.

Broadway saw the sun for about 10 minutes this morning and many hats took off their bats with as much reverence as any Parsee acknowledging the presence of his deity. Odd suits alone the roast, who are pretty good weather sharps, say that there may be rain—shine tomorrow—if the wind does what it is expected.

Going the Sun One Better.

"Happy the bride the sun shines on," says the old proverb. How about the bride who steps to the altar with the effulgence of 10,000 incandescent bulbs flooding her beauty? Miss Agnes Rose Lane of Brooklyn, who will be married in Christ church on the 30th, will get the electricity because she is sensible enough to have an electrician for a fiance. He will arrange the illuminations for the wedding and will use half a mile of cable on which to string his lamps. When the couple enter the church it will be in darkness, but two long rows of lamps will flash a welcome ere they have made two steps. Then string after string of lights will burst into glow until the whole edifice is dazzlingly bright.

Affected Aloft by the Heat.

Some people in a little village on Long Island who have nothing to do at night discovered a "Jacob's ladder" in the heavens a night or two ago. It was formed of a mysterious light and was so impressive that some of the rest can believe they saw angels passing up and down, just as the Biblical Jacob did in his dream. And yet they say villagers are lacking in imagination.

A Fair Show for All.

No matter what may be his attitude on the race question, the man who puts a straw in the way of the earnest advancement of any human being, black or white, is an enemy to mankind.—Baltimore American.

The Canal Dilemma.

An esteemed friend that public opinion on the Isthmus of Panama is greatly aroused by the rejection of the canal treaty at Bogota. The wish of Panama, to which the Isthmian Canal is having its interests identified by the Colombian congress in order that some of the Colombian statesmen "higher up" may encounter such business in the line of securing some personal advantage of a pecuniary nature as the result of their misdoings. The state of Panama, however, which represents the most civilized and most enterprising section of the republic, is naturally incensed. It wishes the construction of the canal; it believes the offer made by the United States to be eminently fair, and it appreciates at their full value the profits which will accrue to the majority of the national congress.

Should Panama secede and ask for recognition as an independent state, there is no particular reason why the American government should hesitate to accord it recognition. There is little use in bragging over the victories of peace and of currency with governments such as that of Colombia, which represents in the last analysis a system of organized anarchy. The interests of the United States demand no intimate canal, they will not bond Cuba, and they are in accord with the interests of the population of the territory through which the canal would pass. While the government of Colombia refuses to concede would be given gladly by the free and independent state of Panama.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

It is gratifying to learn that certain influences point to the consummation of the administration of the reopening of negotiations with Nicaragua and Costa Rica. Such negotiations, when begun, should be definite, based upon the absolute abandonment of the Hay-Herran treaty under the president's prerogative as outlined in the canal act of last year. There should be no tentative resumption of the dealings for the Nicaragua route for the purpose of leavening Colombia to a decided acceptance to this government. It is to be supposed that the United States, before adopting the new policy, will give Colombia formal notice that the period of negotiations will end at a certain date, or that it has actually closed already. This government cannot afford to place itself under suspicion of threatening Colombia with a closure of the door for the Nicaragua route in order to hasten action at Bogota.

The statute provides the president in any course he may take in relation upon the definite ending of all dealings with Colombia. That government has indicated in the clearest possible manner its unwillingness to sell any degree of sovereignty over the strip. There is no disposition to make a new treaty with them and carefully eliminating the French equity of the party who dash from the proprietors. The United States has lowered its prestige and lost valuable time in pursuing this discredited Panama project, and the competence of the American people will never consent to encourage rebellion on the part of the province of Panama and civil war in order that a new "Dickey" shall be made with it as an independent sovereignty for promotion of that following death of death. There is only one thing to do in the existing circumstances—end the intolerable Panama bombing and build the canal that the American people have favored first, last and all the time, via Nicaragua.—New York Herald.

Colombia may be acting in bad faith, but it would be hardly an excuse for our acting in the part of the bully. It hardly appears possible that such a course is being "utterly contemplated," though if this is the case it is but another indication of what a change for the worse has come over us since we began to be conquerors. If the canal cannot be built without war we can worry along without the canal. After all is no Isthmian canal absolutely essential to our continued well-being as a nation?—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

Gov. Taft's Promotion.

The announcement that William H. Taft, new governor of the Philippines, will succeed Elihu Root as secretary of war, is a definite assurance, says the New York Mail and Express, that the tasks which have been so greatly forwarded in that department will be intrusted to competent hands. The secretary of the administration of the present war secretary, evinced by his frank declaration that he would feel warranted to retiring from public office during the coming winter, prompted the thorough, comprehensive and loyal assistance of Judge Taft in the chief work of pacifying the Philippines and laying the foundations for their civil government, for industrial development and sound schooling. The reorganization of the army and the operation of the new militia law will leave the management of the Philippines the chief problem confronting the war department, as in some degree, equally in agriculture and commerce, it will for other departments. It is a problem with which Judge Taft has been trained to cope in the school of experience. He will bring with him to the councils of the cabinet the profound knowledge only to be gained by personal observation and intimate contact.

Conviction of Caleb Powers.

Once more Caleb Powers, the rightful secretary of state of Kentucky, has been convicted of complicity in the murder of Goebel and has been sentenced by the jury to death. It does not now seem likely that he will pay the last penalty, though there is such a rage over the failure to get Gov. Taylor in the toils that the execution may long be held over him as a club. This suggestion, which comes from Kentucky, does not seem a reasonable one, but they have a way of doing things in Kentucky without reason or justice.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Finance Committee of Councils Affirmatively Recommends Start of Work.

WANTS A FORMAL STATEMENT

Carnegie Institute Trustees Likely to Have Permission Soon to Occupy Flinn-Magee Site for Polytechnic School—No Action on Filtration.

The finance committee of councils last night acted affirmatively on the resolution granting the board of trustees of the Carnegie institute authority to enter upon the Flinn-Magee site and start work on the Carnegie polytechnic school. To this affirmative recommendation was attached, however, a resolution requiring the trustees to file with the city clerk a formal and official statement giving the general scope of the institution and stating just what voice the city will have in the management of the school.

Considerable discussion arose over this amendment. Mr. Stevenson producing a statement of the same character from W. N. Frew, chairman of the board of trustees. This statement was made to ex-Mayor Liehl and was a resume of prior propositions. A more formal and technical statement was desired.

In order to facilitate matters, the rules were suspended and the resolution returned to select council, which meets Monday. The amendment requires that the statement be filed before the resolution goes into effect. The board of trustees can act while the matter is pending in councils.

The subject of increasing the city's indebtedness for the purpose of water extension and filtration was brought up, but at Mr. Lamble's suggestion it was held over pending the outcome of the present inquiry of Director Bigelow and the councilmanic filtration committee into the question.

The ordinance providing for increases of wages for attendants at Marshalsea was returned with an affirmative recommendation. The department of charities set forth that the increases are necessary as attendants are reluctant about remaining at the institution when better inducements are offered them elsewhere.

On resolution for the appointment of a joint councilmanic committee to inquire into the condition of the taxables of the various wards in view of a reapportioning of the representation, was affirmatively returned.

The ordinance providing for a chief veterinary at $800 a year, and two assistants at $800 each, was also affirmatively returned.

A resolution increasing the salaries of the inspectors of wiring of the bureau of electricity and two assistants, $30 each a year, to enable them to become beneficiaries of the firemen's fund, was also affirmatively returned.

A batch of bids on lots owned by the city which had been advertised for sale, were received, but were referred to the sub-committee for consideration. Among the communications was one from Katie Cox of Highland station, Twenty-second ward, in which she asks the city its price on two lots in the Gazzam plan in Beelam street, she adds: "For my house is on them by mistake," and then explains that she bought the house from Mary Foley six years ago and learned during the present month that it was on city lots.

MANY NEW ATTRACTIONS AT OAKLAND CARNIVAL

Public Wedding to Occur Tonight—Mind Reader to Give a Wonderful Street Exhibition.

In point of attendance and general satisfaction, last night was the banner one thus far at the Oakland board of trade carnival, due chiefly to the attendance of Shriners and their friends. The carnival managers had a number of surprises in store for the Shriners which resulted in increased enthusiasm all along the line.

While last night had its many extra features, tonight's special attraction, the public marriage, will undoubtedly bring the greatest crowd since the opening. Mayor Hays has promised the board of trade committee that he will be on hand to witness the marriage, which will occur promptly at 9:30 o'clock. Following the ceremony the couple will ride in the Streets of Cairo. Afterward they will be given the numerous presents that have been donated by merchants of the Oakland district.

Each night's performance brings forth some special point of praise at the hands of the patrons. This is shown particularly in the great interest aroused over the production of the eruption of Mt. Pelee and the destruction of St. Pierre. "Dare-Devil" Castellane, the loop-the-loop rider, although repeatedly cautioned by his trainer, refuses to heed any of the instructions given him, and each performance is made all the more thrilling by his own utter recklessness.

King Stanley, a mind reader appearing at the carnival, will give a public exhibition of his powers tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock. A committee of business men will meet at the Hotel Anderson at that hour. Some of the committeemen will remain in the hotel in order to prevent Stanley from having any communication with possible confederates. The others will enter a carriage and drive to some distant part of the city and make a minute hole in some obscure place, with a pin; then drive to another locality and secrete the pin. They will then return to the hotel. King Stanley will permit the committee to blindfold him, mount the carriage and drive, blindfolded, through the crowded thoroughfares, to where the pin is hidden, find it, then drive to the point where the pinhole has been made and place the pin exactly in the hole. During the drive he will successfully avoid danger, collision with vehicles and pedestrians, and guide the carriage safely to its destination. Should any of the committee recognize an acquaintance while passing, Stanley will immediately mention the fact, even telling his name if the committeeman thinks of it.

MICHIGAN MINERS FIND NEW IRON ORE RANGE

HOUGHTON, MICH., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Dennis Donohue and John Carghlin, experienced miners, report the discovery of iron ore outcrops in Houghton county, near Covington. The ore is of good quality and in promising quantity. The district is in the proper geological horizon for ore and lies in direct line between the western limits of the Marquette range and the easternmost mines of the Gogebic range. If the prospects become mines a new iron range will add many millions in value of mineral wealth to the Lake Superior district.

POLISH GIRL SUES AN ALLEGED FAITHLESS LOVER FOR DAMAGES

The custom of reading the bans of an approaching marriage in the Catholic church resulted in one instance in a suit in which the wounded affections of a Polish girl are placed at $5,000. Mary Kowacznoka yesterday entered suit against Anton Matuszak and a capias was issued for his arrest. Attorney F. A. Ammon filed the papers. A deputy sheriff went to Calhoun park yesterday afternoon, where it was learned he had taken the other girl, intending to snatch him from her arms, but he was not to be found.

The fair plaintiff alleges that a proposition to marry came from the defendant on August 20 last. The young woman accepted and says she gave up a position paying her $7 a week to arrange for the wedding. The following Sunday she attended church and during the services almost fainted when she heard the bans of the approaching wedding of her lover announced and discovered another's name, instead of her own, was coupled with the announcement. This was the first time she learned she had a rival.

In her suit she charged her lover with fraud and deceit and complains that she lost her position. She says that she went to great expense to prepare a wedding outfit and that she had notified her friends that she was to marry Matuszak, who is well-known among the Polish people in this county. Both families are among the better class of foreigners and the girl is described as a very comely young woman. If the deputy sheriff succeeds in locating the defendant and he cannot find bail he will go to jail instead of to a wedding.

SURVIVORS OF 155TH REUNITE TOMORROW

Arrangements for a Day of Pleasure at Kennywood Park Completed.

Surviving members of the famous One Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, will hold a reunion at Kennywood park tomorrow. All arrangements have been made to render this an occasion of much pleasure to the veterans. It is stated that this will probably be the last meeting of the survivors of this command—"a regiment unsurpassed in the Army of the Potomac or the annals of history for patriotic devotion, fortitude and gallantry."

COL. E. JAY ALLEN.
A well-known Pittsburgher, who organized the 155th Penna. Vols., the survivors of which are to hold a reunion at Kennywood park tomorrow.

A reception committee will be in attendance at the council chamber of city hall from 9 to 10 a. m. tomorrow and will furnish badges, receive and entertain visitors, give information and help in any way to make the affair a success. At 10 o'clock the crowd will start on the Kennywood cars in Fifth avenue for the park, and will meet at 11 o'clock on the second floor of the Casino. After invocation, roll call and registration, reports of deaths since last meeting, reading of letters from absent comrades and resolutions, the meeting will adjourn for dinner. There will be an orchestra in attendance and a good square meal will be served.

The election of officers will follow and there will be brought to the attention of the meeting the proposition to compile and publish a history of the regiment. Col. John Ewing has been made editor and will be assisted in his work by John H. Kerr, S. W. Hill and Charles F. McKenna. An informal campfire with impromptu speeches will end the day.

The regiment was organized by Col. E. Jay Allen and started for the front September 3, 41 years ago. The total enlistment was 1,520. There were 284 members killed in action, 430 wounded and 206 died of disease. It served in 26 battles, including Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness and Appomattox. The officers of the present organization are: President, S. W. Hill; secretaries, C. F. McKenna and H. F. Weaver; treasurer, George M. Laughlin.

SPEECHES CAUSED DEATH.

Negro Educator Killed from Ambush Because of His Incendiary Addresses.

NEW ROADS, LA., Sept. 1.—La Planving, the negro educator, assassinated near Orcara, La., Sunday night by unknown persons, was principal of the Pointe Coupee Industrial college, an institution for the education of negroes. While on his way home Sunday night on the main road near False River, he was fired upon from a cotton field. The first shot struck the horse which the negro was riding and the second struck Planving in the back of the head.

It is claimed that Planving had been making incendiary speeches to the negroes of the community, advising them not to work for or to have anything to do with white people and it is believed that these alleged utterances had much to do with the assassination.

Booker T. Washington was to have visited this vicinity next month as the guest of Planving.

DISOBEYED FIRE BOSS BY USING NAKED LAMP

John Rockie, a miner, is in jail awaiting a hearing this morning before Alderman William B. Armstrong on a charge of violating the mining laws. Rockie works in the Cooley mine, near Canonsburg. In defiance of the orders of Fire Boss Alexander M. Couch, Rockie entered a dangerous portion of the mine with a naked lamp. When placed under arrest his friends tried to rescue him, but were held off by Constable James Williamson with a revolver.

Now, old man, I don't want to work the old "I told you so" gag on you, but the way to prevent sunstroke is to keep the bowels clean and cool, and the blood from being over-heated, by taking a CASCARET Candy Cathartic at bed-time. B. & B.

Were it not for the persistent activity, keen forsight, unquestionable taste and mechanical and artistic genius of the French textile masters, fabrics for fall would be divided into two distinct classes: wide heavy goods—tailorings for long coat suits—and sheer goods for dressy gowns. Almost the entire demand will be for goods of these two classes, and to state that we have provided well, is to speak mildly of a condition which will impress every woman as one of much importance and great promise.

The Tailorings, ranging from $1.00 to $3.50 a yard, are in a multitude of variations, each possessing its own merits, giving it a claim for preference and distinction.

Modest English Suitings—pin check, hair lines, etc., Scotchy effects, stripes, checks, mixtures and overplaids. Mixed Zibeline Tailorings, Homespuns, Venetians, Chevrons, etc.

Not for many a day, if ever before, has such a collection of Tailorings been presented.

Particular attention is invited to the line of 50 to 56 inch Herringbone Tailorings, plain mixtures and Picote effects, at $2.00 per yard.

Navy and Cadet Blue, Brown, Gray, Tan, Castor and Oxford.

Nine choice new fashionable shades genuine imported Paris Voiles 46 inches wide—75c yard.

Other imported Voiles and other sheer fabrics in a variety of weaves and shades, $1.00 to $2.00.

The intermediate French Novelties referred to, are not plentiful, but what's of them are choice, high-class and exclusive—$1.50 to $2.50 a yard.

ONE DEAD, ONE DYING OF BURNS

An Explosion of Benzine in a Homestead Paint Shop Proved Fatal.

PIN SCRATCH KILLS WOMAN

Mrs. Ellen McBride a Victim of Slight Accident While Nursing Daughter Dies from Blood Poison—Other Cases at the Morgue.

From burns received in the explosion of a can of benzine in a Homestead paint shop yesterday morning, Sada Louchey, aged 20 years, of Dickson street, Homestead, is dead; Sinuskey Watey, also of Dickson street, Homestead, is at the point of death and Arlon Condusky is seriously burned on the hands and face. Watley is at the South Side hospital and Condusky is at his home. The dropping of a torch in a can containing a large quantity of benzine dryer started the trouble. The men ran from the building. Neighbors put out the flames from their burning clothes with rugs. A fire alarm was turned in and the fire in the building extinguished with a small loss.

Ellen McBride, aged 52 years, of No. 231 Hay street, Homestead, died at the West Penn hospital yesterday of blood poisoning following the scratching of her hand with a pin while nursing her sick daughter, Mrs. Martin Cross of Turtle Creek, who died two weeks ago.

Edward Rowland, an oil well driller, from Cornwallis, West Virginia, died yesterday afternoon at Mercy hospital of a fractured skull. The injury was inflicted early in the morning by the rig breaking while he was drilling near Burgettstown.

The unknown woman found dead on the tracks of the Pittsburgh Junction railroad, near the north entrance to the tunnel early yesterday morning, as was first reported in The Gazette, was partially identified by an Italian yesterday. He thinks she was Perresina Simicone, aged 25 years, of River avenue, East End. She was a domestic and had been here but three months. She has a sister whom he is trying to locate.

Christ Bodtner, aged 53 years, of Evans street, Thirteenth ward, killed himself in his room yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a tobacco knife. He had made frequent threats, in fits of despondency recently, to end his life. His sister found him lying on the floor with the knife by his side. When a doctor arrived Bodtner was dead.

A description of the appearance of James H. Ackley, who was drowned in the Allegheny river, at Herrs Island dam, August 27, will be sent out by Supt. M. H. Campbell of the Allegheny police. It was requested by his brother, Robert Ackley of Pittsburgh.

Joseph McDowell, a colored miner, of Boston, 48 years old, died at his home last night from injuries received in a fall of slate while at work early yesterday morning.

Coroner McGeary conducted the inquest in the death of Robert Ferguson, at the Hotel Hollington, Wilmerding, Monday. The jury rendered a verdict of death due to an accidental fall. It was testified that while the hotel proprietor and bartender were putting some men out of the place, Ferguson was sitting on a chair. He took hold of the bartender's suspenders and pulled him off the chair and in the fall his head struck the foot railing, breaking his neck. He was 37 years old.

PLANS TO INTEREST THE PUBLIC IN THE ACTORS

New York Threatrical Manager Talks of the Actors' Society While in Pittsburgh.

Lincoln A. Wagenhals of the theatrical firm of Wagenhals & Kemper, New York managers directing the tour of Blanche Walsh in "Resurrection;" James and Warde in "Alexander the Great," and other well-known theatrical stars, has evolved a scheme whereby he expects to increase interest in players and theaters throughout the United States. The scheme is to have the principal theaters playing high-class attractions, give a benefit annually, the proceeds to be used to further the interests of the Actors' Society of America.

Several prominent actors and authors were born in Pittsburgh, including Stephen C. Foster, author of "Old Folks at Home," Bartley Campbell, the playwright, and Ethelbert Nevin, the composer, all deceased. The late lamented "Uncle John" Ehrler and Joseph Haworth were also located for a time in this city, and an annual benefit for the fund should prove an interesting feature in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Wagenhals, in speaking of his plan, said: "In the larger cities let the local managers go together and arrange for a benefit once a year, and in order to keep up the interest it might be possible to have the park commissioners in the various cities appropriate a certain amount of money for the purpose of erecting a memorial of some kind to be placed in each of the parks. In this way the Actors' society would be kept constantly before the public, and the stage and its people be put in closer touch with those who give the support for the maintenance of public amusements. The society is a worthy order and does more in a way for its members than any other charity in the country."

Mr. Wagenhals says that if a benefit could be arranged in Pittsburgh, he would personally see that an organization out of the ordinary be assembled to give a magnificent revival of one of Shakespeare's works. The company to include Modjeska, the Polish actress, Louis James, Frederick Warde, Blanche Walsh, Norman Hackett, Thomas Cotlin Cooke and other artists of equal prominence. The Rev. S. Edward Young is one of the prime movers in the local branch of the society.

CHILDREN THIRST IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

Ralston Directors in a Deadlock Over the Awarding of a Contract.

PARENTS ARE VERY INDIGNANT

Plumbing Condemned by Inspectors Six Months Ago—Only Two Bidders for the Work, but the Directors Are Divided. Building May Be Closed.

A water famine and the lack of sanitary appliances threaten to compel the closing of the Ralston public school in the Ninth ward, unless the members of the board of directors come to an agreement as to whom it will award the plumbing contracts. Two bids have been made for the work and a matter of $300 stands in the way of an agreement. A deadlock resulted when a vote was taken on the awarding of the contracts and the directors do not see their way out of the dilemma. The patrons of the school are up in arms over the state of affairs and many of the pupils will withdraw if immediate steps are not taken to remedy the evil.

The plumbing in the school building was condemned by the city inspectors more than six months ago, and proposals were received for a complete overhauling of the piping system. Albert Henle proposed to do the work for $350 and Barth-Clornew Reagan made a bid of $1,200. Three members of the board said Henle's bid was too cheap and voted for Reagan. The other three members said Reagan's was too high and voted for Henle. Three meetings last week only strengthened the deadlock. No special meeting has been called and the board may not convene until the regular monthly meeting next Monday evening.

When the 350 pupils gathered in the building at Penn avenue and Fifteenth street on Monday morning to resume their studies they found no water and the sanitary arrangements were closed. One of the city inspectors who examined the building, declared that if the parents knew the conditions of the school no children would be allowed to attend, and that the truant officers could be successfully defied.

Some of the members of the school board suggested that public sentiment in the ward should decide the deadlock. Patrons who were seen by a reporter for The Gazette last night stated that they were not concerned in the contest over the bids and did not care who got the contract, but insisted that the work should be done in a proper manner and at once. George Bracker, secretary of the board, said:

"Nothing has been done and no suggestions have been offered. Contracts are usually given to the lowest bidder. We believe that $850 is sufficient for the job, but other members of the board think that the sum will not guarantee good workmanship. I do not know what will be done."

NATIONAL BANKS ARE AFTER THAT $40,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—National banks are anxious to get part of the $40,000,000 which Secretary Shaw has set aside to deposit this fall in the event of a monetary stringency. Though the secretary has no intention of increasing the deposits in the banks unless the demand for currency for moving the crops cannot be met without forcing interest rates up, banks that are now depositories are sending in applications for increased deposits and other banks are asking to be designated as depositories.

SUBPOENA AWAITS LARKIN'S RETURN

Morrow Promises to Produce the Controller at the Health Bureau Investigation.

PROBING SO FAR FALLS FLAT

Evidence Does Not Substantiate Vague Charges of City's Fiscal Officer—Councilman Thomas M. Brown Holds Aloof, Although a Member of the Committee.

Controller Larkin has cast aside the investigation of the health bureau, which has proved somewhat of a boomerang to him, for a few days, and gone to Harrisburg to escape local troubles. Assistant Controller Morrow stated yesterday that his superior would be back Friday, and would be present at the meeting of the health investigation committee Friday night.

Select Councilman John A. Murphy said yesterday that a subpoena would be served upon the controller Friday, when he returned. Mr. Murphy still insists that the controller shall take the stand and state his charges against the health bureau and give the names of his informants.

Assistant Controller Morrow said yesterday that the controller would not make any specific charges, but he would repeat the complaints that had reached him and, if called upon to do so, would give the names of the persons making the complaint.

The general opinion is that the charges against the health bureau have about fizzled out and that further proceedings will be nothing short of a comedy. The councilmen who opposed the investigation on the ground that no specific charges were made by the controller are taking a great deal of satisfaction in the failure of the controller to introduce any evidence of a damaging nature against the health bureau, and they insist that the controller shall play the leading role in the comedy they expect to be enacted Friday night.

Councilman Thomas M. Brown, now the Citizens party candidate for sheriff, is holding aloof from the investigation, absenting himself Monday night, as predicted. It is expected that he will remain away also on Friday night, as the proposed investigation has no support outside of the controller's office.

The answers of Assistant Controller Morrow to the questions put to him on Monday night, in which he stated that he knew of no mismanagement or corruption in the health bureau, meant the practical collapse of the investigation. It is evident that the assistant controller believes the investigation was a mistake, but he remained loyal to his chief by refusing to give the names of the persons alleged to have made complaints to the controller's office.

Director Harry Moore returned to the city last evening, and will be present Friday night to testify if called upon. Director Moore has stated repeatedly that he knew of nothing improper in the treatment of smallpox by his subordinates.

AIMS AT MAYOR JOHNSON.

Attorney General Attacks Bond Issuing Act to Stop Improvements in Cleveland.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—Attorney-General Sheets filed a quo warranto case in the supreme court today, that attacks a section of the Longworth bond issuing act. The primary object is to oust the election board from office.

The Cleveand election board has called a special election under the Longworth act to approve the issue of $1,000,000 of bonds for sundry city improvements, said election to be held next Monday. The board is attacked on the ground that it is established under a special act not applying to all the cities of the state.

It is suspected that the real object of the litigation is to prevent Mayor Tom L. Johnson from proceeding with these improvements in which large numbers of employes will be engaged when they are made.

GERMAN EMPRESS SETS AN EXAMPLE

Mrs. Hunt, Delegate to Bremen Congress, Had Audience With Her.

SHE IS A MODEL HOUSEWIFE

Reception Was Kindly and Informal and Conversation Upon Subjects Dear to Women--Interest in Temperance Work in America Shown by Her Majesty.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Mary H. Hunt, who has just returned from her trip to Berlin, gives this account of it:

Of all the events which happened during my trip abroad as the only woman delegate from the United States to the recent Bremen congress, none has lent a more vivid impression on my mind than my visit to Potsdam and my audience with her majesty, the empress of Germany.

I was stopping at Berlin and was almost ready to leave when, one morning, a telegram was handed me signed by the first lady of the robes, Countess Brockdorff, summoning me and my companion, Fraulein Hoffman, to "the marble palace of Potsdam, where her majesty, the empress of Germany, graciously wished to receive us."

To say that I was agreeably surprised does not begin to express my feelings. I had never sought or even hoped for an audience with this remarkable woman, whom all the world knows and respects as an ideal wife and mother, who has set a splendid example to her people by bringing up children of which any mother might well be proud. And these children have not been brought up as were princesses and princes of old, but in strict accord with the tradition in the house of Hohenzollern that every member of it should learn a trade.

The kaiser, who himself is a capital buckbinder and an expert shipbuilder, has never allowed his children to idle their time away, and in this Empress Victoria has always agreed with him.

One Prince Afraid of Water.

From people who stand very close to the imperial family I had heard so many charming stories of the perfect simplicity with which the children are brought up. One little story I cannot refrain from telling my American readers, as I consider it extremely characteristic in the wholesome way in which her children are being brought up.

One of the six sons, I shall not tell which, was cured of a habit he had of getting up and going down to breakfast without being washed. If possible the little prince would slip out of bed and into his clothes before the nurse arrived on the scene to attend to his dressing, for thus he escaped the matutinal bath which he detested. Before entering the room where the royal family breakfasted the little prince would stroll round the court house, and each time he passed the sentry he enjoyed being saluted by the soldier.

At breakfast he would inform his brothers of the soldier's salutation with great satisfaction, and thus it happened that a lady in waiting was struck with a bright idea, which she communicated to the empress. Acting on this communication the empress sent for the sentry and bade him notice the little prince's appearance and not to salute him if he appeared with unwashed face.

Cured by Strategy.

Next morning the young prince again left his room before the nurse entered; he went for a stroll, but to his great disappointment the sentry took not the least notice of him. Immensely disappointed and upset, he told his mother, with tears in his eyes, that the sentry had not acknowledged him.

"It is because you have a dirty face," said the empress.

From that day forward there was never occasion to reprove the lad for failing to take his morning tub.

Her majesty, the mother of six sons and and a daughter, is a tall, slender beautiful woman with a youthful face under a crown of light hair. She looks every inch an empress, and still you immediately feel that first of all she is a woman. Speaking of her children, as she repeatedly did during the interview, her beautiful eyes sparkled with an expression of motherly pride and love.

Advancing to meet us, with the most gracious manner and with extended hands she welcomed us with childlike simplicity and absence of all formality. She listened with sincere interest to our answers to her questions and often surprised us with her deep knowledge of American conditions.

Told About America.

In response to her questions I told her majesty the story of the origin and progress of the movement which has put temperance education laws upon the statute books of our national congress and every one of the 5 states.

I told the empress that I could not leave her without telling her how deeply touched I was to find her so interested in the cause which I had made my life work, and again that beautiful smile, which I shall never forget, spread over her kind features.

"Dear Mrs. Hunt," the empress said, "my interest in this holy cause is very ably explained when you remember that I have six splendid young boys myself."

How much many of our society women could learn from her. These women, who have no higher aim or ambition than to pass their life in one continuous whirl of so-called pleasures, who dread the very idea of becoming mothers, or, who, having borne children, think of them as a burden.

If these our society butterflies, always so ready to imitate royalty in everything, could see Empress Victoria in the midst of her family, surrounded by her loving children, their eyes might be opened to the fact that motherhood, that the education of their own children, so far from being a disagreeable burden, or at the most an unpleasant duty, is a privilege, a pleasure, greater than which this world holds none.

AMERICA LEADS PACE IN STEEL

Andrew Carnegie Tells British Manufacturers of Great Strides of United States.

ADDRESS AS THE PRESIDENT

Delivered Before Iron and Steel Institute at Barrow—Declares Fate of Industry Depends Upon Future Discoveries of Iron Ore.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, ENGLAND, Sept. 1.—The autumn conference of the Iron and Steel Institute opened here today under the presidency of Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Carnegie delivered the following address to the members of the institute, which deals largely with the growth of the iron and steel industry in the United States, particularly in the Pittsburgh district:

Predicts Uniting of Nations.

Mr. Carnegie, in opening, said that the record in iron and steel of England, "the great little mother of nations," had not been equaled by any of her children, although her eldest and biggest seems to inherit his mother's indomitable spirit and the ability to work miracles. He continued:

In all matters of iron and steel, however, the child has been borne upon the shoulders of the parent. If the Atlantic ocean had been prairie land, there would have been little left in the world but the conquering old lady and her family, all under one roof, under one flag, a self-sustaining empire under free trade with probably 200,000,000 of our English-speaking race, and a home market so big as to give control of neutral markets. No question of protection or preferential tariffs then to disturb us. Besides all this we should have been able to enforce peace among nations.

Gentlemen, unfortunately an ocean exists where we should have preferred prairie, but it is traversed in about the same time as the 3,000 miles of land between Montreal or New York on the Atlantic and San Francisco and Victoria on the Pacific. Who so bold as to predict that never is our race to succeed in converting the ocean, hitherto a barrier to your branches, into the pathway of reunion of the two united branches? Not I. My faith is unshakable that some day this will be accomplished and that instead of being two small islands here allen to the European continent you will look across the sea to your own children in Canada and the United States and become once more the mother member of the dominant power of the world.

Great Strides of the United States.

Referring to a meeting of the institute held in Barrow 20 years ago, Mr. Carnegie said:

There was at this historical meeting a report of a remarkable production, submitted by David Forbes, foreign secretary to the institute, upon the progress of iron and steel industries in foreign countries. I naturally turned to see what he had to say about the United States. Several pages are given to the Pittsburgh district, and what is there recorded carries me back to the days of youth apparently. In 1874 the Pennsylvania Steel Company made 20,000 tons of steel rails. They make that amount in two weeks now. Bethlehem iron works were engaged in raising a loan of the enormous amount of £20,000 for the extension of their works, a paltry $100,000. Five millions would be comparatively little today.

The great Cambria iron works in Western Pennsylvania, near Pittsburgh, were credited with having made no less than 1,067½ tons of ingots in the week ending September 26, the largest quantity ever made in a week, which is a day's work nowadays. The new blast furnaces were being built in Ohio, the capital of the company being all Scotch, and it was proposed to call the iron Scotch-American pig.

This isn't a bad brand, either of men or iron. It is noted that the total production of pig iron in the United States in 1873 was 2,567,000 net tons, and in 1873 just about the same. Today it is approaching 20,000,000 tons per annum. The product of steel, nearly 16,000,000 tons, is greater than the rest of the world.

Progress of Industry Abroad.

The progress of Germany and Britain have also been great. Britain made 643,000 tons of steel in 1874, and last year 1,828,000 tons. Germany made 3,362,000 tons in 1874, last year 6,394,000. In 1871 Britain made 6,054,000 tons of pig iron, Germany 1,806,000 tons. Last year they made 8,618,000 and 8,468,000 tons, respectively. In 1874 the world was producing nearly 14,500,000 tons of pig iron and 250,000,000 tons of coal. Now these is being produced 41,500,000 tons of pig iron and 1,800,000,000 tons of coal.

Another item—Mr. Forbes is informed that for the last seven months natural gas has been utilized in Pittsburgh in one of the mills. The largest output for furnace then known was during the week ending September 7, 1874—702,000 tons. 100 tons per day. When our Lucy furnace made 100 tons in one day, the world thought the limit was surely reached. Two new Carnegie furnaces have recently averaged 650 tons each per day for months at a time.

The work of a week is now done in a day, but great as that contrast, here is one still greater. There have been made and sold without loss hundreds of thousands of tons of four-inch steel billets at three pounds for a penny. Surely, gentlemen, the limit has been reached here. I think it has, and it is doubtful if ever a lower price can be reached for steel.

Steel to Become Dearer.

On the contrary, there is every indication that period after period the price of steel is to become dearer owing to the lack of raw material. To make that three pounds of steel at least 10 pounds of material were required—three pounds of coke, mined and transported 60 miles to the works, one and one-half pounds of lime, mined and transported 150 miles, and four and one-half pounds of ironstone, mined at Lake Superior, and transported 900 miles to Pittsburgh, being transferred twice, once from cars into the ship, and again from the ship into the railroad cars.

How it was done I cannot pretend to tell you, but I know the figures are correct. But every time I repeat them I doubt their possibility. This was done during the day of depression, when everything was at the lowest. Costs are several dollars per ton higher today, during this period of boom in America.

Gentlemen, such is the contrast between 1874 and 1903. What is it to be 29 years hence? What changes are to come? I have tried to imagine some of its features. It is barely possible that this country can increase its product of iron and steel materially. Let us hope that the product will not be decreased. The vital element in the matter is, as we all know, the supply of iron ore. Many of you are conversant with the situation here. I only know what I learn from others, but undoubtedly the attention of this iron and steel manufacturers should be directed to this question. Where and how can they obtain a supply of iron ore?

Ore Supply for 60 Years.

Nor is it a question which the manufacturer of America can safely neglect. It was because it forced itself so strongly upon us that we secured such an abundant supply of the best ore obtainable. For 60 years, I think, the United States Steel Corporation is supplied at its present rate of consumption, but 60 years is as nothing compared to the life of a nation. It is upon future discoveries of iron ore that the future of cheap steel manufacturing, even in America, depends. There are immense deposits in now inaccessible parts.

In Utah, for instance, and in Southern California large deposits have been found, so that steel will continue to be manufactured, but it could not surprise me if its cost was very greatly advanced in the future. It seems almost miraculous that such an article as steel could be produced and sold without loss at three pounds for a penny. I am convinced that this is a thing of the past. It will be a question of increased cost and therefore of increased price, so that neither Britain nor America need fear that steel manufacture will be wholly lost; the world will gladly pay the increased price necessary to obtain it. During the next half century it seems that America is to increase her output at a tremendous pace. The output of Britain perhaps will remain stationary or even increase somewhat if developments in Norway and Sweden prove satisfactory.

Gentlemen, even if this Barrow meeting should fail to rank in importance historically with the first one, I am sure that in the warmth of welcome received, in the enjoyment of the occasion and in the meeting of one with another, the records will not fail to show that 1903 compared favorably even with its epoch-making predecessor.

LITTLE FERRYBOAT UPSETS; WOMAN AND CHILD DROWN

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Jeremiah Case of Cuddebackville, was drowned together with her niece today in the Neversink river. Miss Anna Blake of Goshen, barely escaped the same fate, reaching the shore wounded and exhausted. A rope had been stretched across the river at the ferry by which those in boats propelled themselves to the other side. The boat became uncontrollable in the swift current and capsized.

"PARSIFAL'S" PRODUCTION CANNOT BE PREVENTED

Herr Conried Possesses Full Score of the Opera. Acting Rights Are Public Property in the United States.

[Special Telegram To The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—From records now on file in the library of congress, Frau Cosima Wagner apparently has no further basis for her contemplated suit against Herr Conried, of the Metropolitan opera house, against his proposed production of "Parsifal" than a publisher's note stating that public performances of the work are positively forbidden.

The rights of performance in Germany belong to Frau Wagner while B. Shotte, a German publisher, controls the sole rights of publication in Germany. In purchasing a copy of the work from Schotte, the buyer, it is stated, must sign an agreement that he does not intend to use the copy for public performance. The purchaser's right to dispose of the edition and the intention of the persons into whose possession the book passes later do not enter into the agreement.

Schotte copyrighted only the vocal score at the library of congress on July 9, 1903. The work is registered as No. 29,814 and is the Hillndworth arrangement. The copyright issue protects the score only against other publishers. John P. Jackson of New York translated the libretto of "Parsifal" into English and took out a copyright March 21, 1890, with the number 9,444. The work is listed as "a festival of music drama by Richard Wagner. English version by John P. Jackson."

In a recent interview the intendent general of the Royal opera at Munich declared that the opera of "Parsifal" was the property of the king of Bavaria and that any right to produce the work would therefore have to be accorded by him. It will be remembered that the king gave something like 250,000 marks toward the erection of the theater at Beyreuth, and a contract is said to have been made between him and Wagner whereby the king of Bavaria would have the sole right of producing the opera outside of Beyreuth.

Herr Conreid asserts that he has a full score of the opera which was presented to him by Felix Motl, who conducted the Beyreuth performance in person. It is said here that if Mr. Conreid has the score and the acting rights in this country are public property New York stands a fair chance of hearing "Parsifal" before another winter passes.

GERMAN PRESS ANGRY AT "PLEBIAN UPSTART"

Baltimore Musician Declined Invitation to Be Presented to Emperor William.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The conservative German press is sharply condemning the minister of finance, Count von Rheinbaden, for having given L. H. Welmann of Baltimore, president of the Northwestern Saengerbund, an opportunity to snub the kaiser in declining an invitation to visit Berlin and be presented to Emperor William, who had expressed a wish to see the foremost leader of German singers in America. Especially hard is the criticism of the minister in the Leipziger Neueste Nacchrichten, which writes:

"An official who is no more delicate and careful in his actions than to expose his royal master to the ridicule of the world by being snubbed by a democratic plebian upstart does not deserve the name of diplomat and is incapable of holding his high office. It may be so, as some people seem to think, that every American is 'haffachig,' and the cordial reception of Cornelius Vanderbilt seems to indicate this; but a court or government official should, before extending an invitation, try to find out whether the intended guest has birth and rank enough to appreciate the unusual honor. When the Boer generals were here last the court was much more careful to look into their pedigree, but it seems that, things have changed entirely since then."

Lord Roberts Trip Postponed.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Although Field Marshal Lord Roberts is still booked to sail for Boston on the Mayflower, September 25, it can now be definitely stated that he will not go to the United States this autumn. The alteration in his plans was necessitated by the postponement of the British army maneuvers until the middle of September.

EVERY SCHOOL CHILD MUST SHOW GOOD SCAR

Bureau of Health Corps Starts on a Vaccinating Tour. Looking After Dumps.

Every public school pupil must show a scar or be vaccinated. The bureau of health is taking no chances, and the quill corps started to work yesterday. Public dumps were also decided to be a menace, and they are to be purged by fire. The schools on the South Side and teh hill were visited by the officers and physicians, and this morning the schools in Lawrenceville will be visited. The crusade will take in all the schools in the city. Some 300 children were vaccinated during the day.

In the Sixteenth ward about 100 persons were vaccinated in this district. During the day 4,000 virus bulbs were distributed at the bureau of health office.

Superintendent Moore issued orders that all garbage and refuse dumped on vacant lots be immediately destroyed by fire. Drivers taking garbage to these places will be required to burn it before leaving. Superintendent Moore maintains that smallpox and other diseases have been spread by women and children picking and handling this rubbish.

Nine cases of smallpox were taken to the Municipal hospital yesterday. They were: Robert Cobbs, No. 5 Breckinridge street; Edna Gibson, No. 338 Soho street; Mrs. McBride, No. 243 Dinwiddie street; Elenora Harenski, No. 3840 Brerton avenue; James McLaughlin, No. 245 Forty fifth street; Rose Carter, No. 2111 Omega street; Laura McCarthy, No. 2024 Second avenue; Elmer Clark, Arch and Shaffer streets, and Peter Protnizzard, No. 3019 Preble avenue.

Two deaths from smallpox were reported in Pittsburgh yesterday. One was that of Clara Nelson, 33 years old and married, who lived at No. 4201 Orchard street. She had been in the Municipal hospital six days. The other death was that of Gladys Shelton, 17 months old, of No. 2035 Beltzer street. The child was in the hospital 10 days.

The school controllers of Allegheny last night considered the action of the directors of the Charles street, Fourth ward, school. The school is near the district in which there is much smallpox and the board thought it best not to open the school at the beginning of the term. The directors were complimented by the board of control upon their action. A. C. Latimer made a motion that the school be opened at the discretion of the superintendent of the public schools. W. D. McGill amended the motion that the school be opened when the bureau of health of Allegheny and the board of directors of the school came to an agreement that it was safe. The amended motion was adopted.

McKeesport police yesterday found John Ditson, colored, aged 52 years, in a house on Jerome street, suffering from smallpox. The other occupants of the house, about 10 in number, had managed to get away before the police arrived and are now at large in McKeesport.

GERMANY'S EXHIBITS.

To Have Fine Collection at St. Louis—Krupps Will Not Participate.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Germany's exhibit at the St. Louis exposition is taking form. Some shipments have already been made. It will adequately represent Germany in all the lines where collective exhibits are made.

The only deficiency will be in individual exhibits. Certain great firms, the Krupps for instance, having decided not to participate. However, the Bersier are sending their best work, while the Heuschels, locomotive builders, will send four engines in the government transportation exhibit, expecting chiefly to impress the Spanish-American visitors.

RETORT TO CHAMBERLAIN FROM THE COBDEN CLUB

Free Trade Organization Accuses the Colonial Secretary of Uttering Untruths.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—A recent letter of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, saying it was not necessary to answer the criticism of the Cobden club, "which appears mainly to be supported by foreigners whose interest it is that we should maintain our present system of free imports," has called out a sharp retort from the club, in an open letter to Mr. Chamberlain, characterizing his statement as "grossly inaccurate."

The letter reminds the colonial secretary that he was for many years a member of the club and that he is therefore perfectly well aware that the foreign members thereof were only elected withthe object of encouraging the free trade movement in other countries and that they have no voice in controlling the policy of the club.

The letter concludes with saying now that Mr. Chamberlain has been reminded of these facts unless he immediately and publicly withdrew his statement it "can only be concluded that it is part of your plan of campaign to try to create prejudice against your opponents by means of statements you know to be untrue."

Hunter Boyd took up the mandamus case instituted to compel the chairman of the late Republican county nominating convention, Dr. W. F. City Councilman George G. Young, assistant secretary of the convention; ex-Senator George L. Wellington and William Cooper, the colored delegate, were on the witness stand. Congressman Pearre, counsel, questioned Senator Wellington, asking if the latter did not threaten to ruin Cooper's business if he did not vote for Whiting. Senator Wellington shouted: "I did not! I did not! I did not!"

Several lively tilts occurred between Wellington and Congressman Pearre and the court was obliged to call them to order. Mr. Wellington indignantly denied that he put his arm around Cooper's neck and threatened him.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—The members of the Grace Methodist church held a special congregational meeting last night and passed unanimously a resolution praying the presiding bishop of the Erie conference, which assembles at Warren, Pa., this month, to reappoint the present pastor, the Rev. SHOT HIS COMPANION AFTER THE COON HUNT

Father Interferes Too Late to Stop Crime Committed by His Son.

[Special Telegram To The Gazette.]

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., Sept. 1.—After returning from a coon hunt at midnight last night, John Buzzard, a farmer of North Freedom, was shot through the left lung by John G. Pugh, of Kittanning. Pugh and his father and Buzzard approached the latter's residence, where the party had planned to spend the night. The younger Pugh, without warning, and without having had a word with Buzzard, drew a revolver and shot the latter, and then beat his victim over the head with the butt of his revolver.

When assistance arrived the elder Pugh was struggling with his son who, when disarmed, refused to talk. The younger Pugh was under the influence of liquor and it is thought that his attack on Buzzard was the result of a misunderstanding over the purchase of a dog which the younger man had made of Buzzard on Monday. Young Pugh was taken to jail at Brookville. Two doctors pronounced Buzzard's wound fatal. John Pugh, Sr., was a Butler county justice of the peace for twenty years. His son is about thirty years old.

CHRISTENING FOLLOWED BY PITCHED BATTLE

Knives, Clubs and Beer Bottles Used—One Man Dying and Many Wounded.

[Special Telegram To The Gazette.]

LATROBE, PA., Sept. 1.—As the result of a riot following a christening at Klondike, last night, one man is dying, three are seriously injured and others are suffering from cuts. The christening was at the home of Joseph Bont. Paul Rudy, 18 years old, had his throat cut from ear to ear with a razor and bears many other knife wounds about the body. Michael Moorcmark, James Conroy and Joseph Ruffsack were all badly cut about the heads in addition to being stabbed in various parts of the body.

The fight spread to the adjoining houses and often the combatants fought a pitched battle on the street, using beer bottles, clubs and stilettos. The fight lasted until an early hour this morning when a mounted messenger was dispatched to Latrobe for assistance. He aroused Justice J. M. Shields and he, with Constable Alexander Baldridge, organized a posse and started for the scene.

They placed 16 rioters in the Latrobe lockup. Warrants were issued for 12 other fighters.

ARMED POSSE TO RESCUE.

Disorder at Slippery Rock Mines—Strikers Drive Off New Men.

BUTLER, PA., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Disorder was prevalent again today at North Slippery Rock. The striking miners drove out the force of 100 men who were imported from Grove City to replace them. The sheriff's posse was unable to control the mob and the newcomers fled under a shower of clubs and stones.

This evening temporary injunctions were issued against twenty-eight of the ring leaders of the strikers, restraining them from further interfering with the new men. Sheriff Gibson left for North Slippery Rock this evening to serve the injunctions. The sheriff expects to organize a posse armed with rifles and the eviction which failed Monday will be attempted again Wednesday.

BIG COAL FLEET STARTS DOWN THE KANAWHA

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Last night the Kanawha coal fleet, one of the largest in years, moved out of its lower pools of the Kanawha river into the Ohio and started on its way to Cincinnati and the southern markets. The fleet is in charge of 10 towboats and is made up of 166 barges and 21 flats, containing in all about 2,000,000 bushels of coal. It will arrive in Cincinnati ahead of most of the Pittsburgh coal.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Cincinnati at Exposition Park.
Brooklyn at New York.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Chicago at St. Louis.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, O., Sept. 1.—The Pittsburgh champions stopped in Newark today en route home from St. Louis and played an exhibition game with the local team, which is considered the best amateur team in Ohio. A large crowd attended, which included a large delegation from the Licking plate works, among whom were many whose homes had been in Pittsburgh. This delegation was conspicuous in the great ovation given the champions when they appeared for their preliminary practice.

The Pittsburgh team arrived in Newark at 11 o'clock in a special sleeper which was sidetracked here and attached to Panhandle No. 20 at 3:15 tonight en route to Pittsburgh.

The game was close and exciting from the start, and the champions only succeeded in winning after two men were out in the ninth inning. The home team was slightly nervous in the first inning, and four hits off Snyder netted them two runs. After this the Newark left-hander settled down, and, although he was hit hard, at critical times he could not be batted safely.

Molloy, the Cincinnati amateur, who came to Newark at noon with Sam Leever, was put in the box for the champions and did fairly well. Manager Clarke sat on the steps of the grandstand and watched the recruit pitch. Molloy will go back to Cincinnati tonight and will hardly be given a trial until next spring.

Wagner played a great game at shortstop, accepting 14 out of 15 chances and making four hits out of five times up. Newark scored one each in the sixth and seventh, Pittsburgh winning in the ninth on two wild pitches, a wild throw by the catcher to catch a runner off first base, the bases being full. The score:

BOTH FOR BROOKLYN.

Schmidt and Garvin Both Pitched Fine Ball.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 1.—In the double-header here today Brooklyn came out victorious, winning both contests rather easily. In the second game Schmidt pitched in the form he showed in the early part of the season and shut out Boston. Carney was in the box for the visitors and was hit hard in the third and sixth innings. Only two safe hits were made off Schmidt, a pass and three errors helping to retire Garvin pitched the home club to victory in the first game, despite the fact that he was opposed to Willis, Boston's best pitcher. The scores:

GIANTS WON GAME.

McGann Got a Very Lucky Home Run.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—In the final game of the series here today the local team scored another win from Philadelphia. It was a well-played game, but there were times when it was absolutely dull. McGann got a home run in the first inning on a hit which if Titus had been alert in fielding would not have been good for more than a single, the ball rolling under the right field ropes. Cronin, Babb and Hulswitt did the best bits of fielding, and the batting of Merkle was the feature of the game. Score:

REDS WON THE SERIES.

Took the Final Game from the Chicago Team.

JEFFRIES TALKS FIGHT.

Is Anxious to Get a Crack at Munroe and Is Ready to Meet Fitz Again.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 1.—Champion Jim Jeffries is keeping himself on edge these days the same as if he were preparing for a battle. In fact the champion does not intend to permit any of the aspirants, particularly Jack Munroe, to get in the way from him if there is any money in sight.

The champion wants to meet Jack Munroe the worst way. Jim longs to wipe out the blot on his record which the Butte miner inflicted, and the first chance he can get to meet Munroe in the ring something is bound to happen.

While in a confidential mood, when talking to one of his close friends here the champion said: "This fellow Munroe is getting a lot of advertisement in the east these days because he stayed four rounds with me. This fellow is no more of a prize fighter than I am a musician. He is big, of course, and many think he would be able to take my measure. Well, I would actually bet every cent I have in the world that I can lick this high footed mutt. I will not make an offer to stay with in four rounds if Munroe feels inclined to bet at all."

Speaking of his break with Fitzsimmons, Jeffries said: "There was nothing to the separation with Bob at all. I decided I could get along just as well without Fitzsimmons and we separated. I see now where he wants to fight me again. Well, I beat him not very long ago and that should hold him a while at least.

"Fitzsimmons has been a great fighter in his day, but he is rather old now. However, if the Cornishman thinks he has any chance at the heavyweight championship and has a little money to put up I will accommodate him."

RAIDED THE FIGHT.

Deputy Sheriff Tried to Dive Through a Window.

GREENWICH, CONN., Sept. 1.—(Special)—Edward Butler, Jack Martin, Henry Martin, George Brown and Thomas Moran were locked up here today charged with engaging in prizefighting at North Mianus, in a hall near to H. C. Havemeyer's residence, last night.

Sheriff Hitch and his posse broke in the door and caught Butler and Jack Martin stripped and being rubbed down by two others. "Get out of this," one of them said to Sheriff Hitch, not knowing him. After arresting five men in the ring, the sheriff and officers went into the main hall. Among the spectators was a deputy sheriff, a prominent Stamford physician, a county constable and other well known residents. These officers flashed pistols and called upon all to stand, and they obeyed.

The sightseers were much relieved when they found out that only their names were wanted, and they were not to be locked up. When the raid was made the deputy sheriff tried to dive from a window, but was pulled back by a posse man.

RYAN IS RECKLESS.

Outlaw Track King Nearly Created a Panic at Sheepshead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(Special)—John J. Ryan, the outlaw track king, dashed through the Brighton entrance at Sheepshead Bay today tooting a 40-horsepower automobile. Women were rendered panic-stricken and Pinkerton men were soon engaged in a remonstrance with Ryan and John P. Considine, who occupied a seat in Ryan's automobile.

A large crowd gathered and for a time trouble seemed imminent. Order was finally restored and Ryan was permitted to proceed to the betting ring. The Sheepshead Bay village authorities may push Ryan with a violation of the "auto speed" law.

WIRE-TAPPERS AT WORK.

Battled With Revolvers and One Was Shot.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—Superintendent Matthews of the Delmar track discovered "wire tappers" in operation at the track this afternoon. In a fight between the "tappers" and Matthews' men one of the former was shot in the face and badly wounded.

The wire extended from the betting room north to Olive street. It was just ready for work when the discovery was made. The other end of the wire was in Delmar Garden. There were no horses in the race. They carried away their wounded comrade on a street car and all trace of them was lost.

HOLBEIN STARTS TO SWIM ACROSS ENGLISH CHANNEL

DOVER, ENGLAND, Sept. 1.—Holbein left Dover on a tug for the South Foreland, where he went ashore. He entered the water on his cross-channel swim at 8:50 p. m., starting on the top of a flood tide with a quiet sea and no wind. Should these favorable conditions last, Holbein expects to reach the French coast in from 16 to 18 hours. He will be accompanied at a close distance by the tug and several boats, from which nourishment will be administered to him.

READVILLE, MASS., Sept. 1.—It has been decided to call off the Neponset stake for 2:10 pacers, left over from the Grand Circuit meeting of last week. The purse of $3,000 will be divided among the entries.

Bresnahan Fell Downstairs.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The Y. M. C. A. football team of Steelton, Pa., is anxious to get a game with the Pittsburgh Athletic club, the Latrobe Athletic club and the Greensburg Athletic club this fall.

North End football enthusiasts are pleased to learn that they will have the best team they ever had in the field. The players and any others desiring will please report at grounds next Monday evening. All strong teams can secure games by addressing Manager North End A. C., Station 10, Allegheny.

At a meeting held Monday the Tiger A. C. decided to drop the old name and will be known hereafter as the Allegheny Field club. Another meeting will be held at 121 Trenton avenue on Friday, September 4, and all players are requested to report. Games have been secured with Connellsville, Latrobe and New Haven High school. Reiter, the A. P. S. star, and Jenkinson of Grove City, who proved such a strong ground gainer last year, will remain in the Tiger ranks. As last year, the Tiger schedule will be made up of the strongest 50-pound teams they can get, as they do not want to make their season's record in one or two games. They would like to hear from all 50-pound teams. Until an election has been held, teams desiring games can address the manager of last year's team, William N. Robson, 130 Allegheny market, Allegheny.

KILLILEA WANTS GAMES PLAYED IN LARGE CITIES

Boston Club Owner Will Meet President Dreyfuss to Arrange for the World's Championship Series.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Sept. 1.—Henry Killilea, owner of the Boston American League club, will meet Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh club of the National league in a few days, and endeavor to arrange for a series of games this fall between the winning teams of the two major leagues and play for the championship of the United States. Mr. Killilea does not care to talk about the terms under which the games will be played at this time, as he deems it best to see Mr. Dreyfuss first and get his views in the matter. Games may be played in New York, Pittsburgh, Boston and Chicago.

CHANGED GOLF RULES DISPLEASES PLAYERS

New Conditions Do Not Suit Golfers in the Match Play at Glen Cove.

GLEN COVE, L. I., Sept. 1.—Findlay S. Douglass, the former golf champion, H. Chadler Egan of Chicago, the present intercollegiate champion, H. B. McFarland, the strongest golfer in the university of Pennsylvania and Malcom McDurbey, who recently won the Stockbridge (Mass.) Golf club championship, were among the leading winners in the opening round today of the national amateur golf championship tournament on the links of the Nassau Country club. All but Egan won their matches handily. He met Lee L. Harban of Washington, D. C., and had a hard game from the start, winning by only one hole.

Douglass made a runaway victory of his match with E. W. Alexander of Detroit, winning by 8 up and 2 to play. Alexander failing to win a hole. McDurbey also won by a high score, defeating O. E. Stevens of the local club, 9 up and 7 to play. McFarland had an easier victory than was expected with J. Whitney Baker of Princeton, winning by 3 up and 1 to play.

As four players detailed their matches, only 26 of the 145 entries took part in the opening day's play of the United States Golf association. The other 119, with the winners today, will play in first and consolation rounds tomorrow. The change is due to the fact that the event this year for the first time in America is conducted at all match play.

Although this is somewhat reticent regarding the success of this new method, the general impression seemed to be against it. There was none of that interest and excitement regarding the outcome as has been customary on the first championship day.

Most of the players who drew byes were on the course practicing. Louis N. James of Chicago, the former champion, and Walter J. Travis, the former title holder for two years, were among them.

Findlay S. Douglas, Nassau country club, beat E. W. Alexander, Detroit, 9 up and 8 to go; George F. Willet, Oakley Country club, beat Hugh McSweeney, Oil City Golf club, 7 up and 5 to go; G. A. Ormiston, Highland Golf club, beat E. C. Hershman, Chevy Chase, 4 up and 3 to go; Bruce D. Smith, Onwentsia, beat George A. Thorne, Glenview, 8 up and 7 to go; R. S. White, New Haven Golf club, beat Newton Annis, Detroit Golf club, 4 up and 2 to go.

THRONGED TO LYCEUM.

Big Audience Gathers to See Season's Informal Opening.

The new Cathedral lyceum was crowded to the doors last night with 500 persons who were present at the season's informal opening of the institution. There was no set program of exercises, but between the athletic events and the musical and literary selections rendered the large audience was well entertained.

Down in the gymnasium some of the members exhibited their proficiency on the parallel bars and did some ground and lofty tumbling, and then the audience adjourned to the parlor, where there were musical and literary selections given by members. It was an informal that no names were announced.

There will be elaborate opening exercises at some time in the fall, but this date has not been decided upon.

TYPHOID IN THE WATER.

McKeesport Is Suffering from the Same Conditions as Exist in Pittsburgh.

Typhoid fever is rapidly on the increase and physicians as well as the board of health do not hesitate to blame the epidemic on the quality of drinking water furnished. Yesterday 12 new cases were reported, making a total of 54 cases for the past four weeks.

Secretary Richards of the health board says there is no question but what the drinking water is responsible, and says the citizens should force some action on the $500,000 bond issue, part of which is to be devoted to the improvement of the water department. A filtration plant is favored and will likely be installed as soon the provisions can be made for the money.

HID MONEY FROM THIEVES.

Camp Meeting Cash Watched All Night to Prevent Its Being Stolen.

Over $1,000 raised by the Free Methodist of McKeesport in their campmeeting at Soles' grove, was watched all night to prevent it being stolen.

The campmeeting has just closed and after the last evening service the money was placed in a box and hidden in a small tent. Strange men had been noticed at the campmeeting and the Rev. Mr. Miller removed the money to another hiding place. The men entered the tent in which the money was first deposited and ransacked it thoroughly. They then left, and yesterday all the money with the exception of what was needed to defray expenses, was deposited in a McKeesport bank.

FEED WATER HEATING DISCUSSED BY ENGINEERS

The mechanical section of the Engineers' society of Western Pennsylvania resumed its fall meetings last night at the club rooms, No. 10 Penn avenue. In a paper on "Feed Water Heaters," John N. Landis offered suggestions for the saving of fuel in steam boilers by introducing apparatus for the superheating of water used in the supply of boilers. He showed how the cylinder exhaust could best be utilized, together with other systems of heating which would counteract the expenditure of fuel.

AGREEMENT UNJUST.

Minor Leaguers See No Chance for Them

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Sept. 1.—President Bement of the Central Baseball league and Manager Watkins of the Indianapolis team consulted today regarding the proposed national agreement offered by the major to the minor leagues. They oppose the proposition. Mr. Watkins said: "Absolutely no show is given minor league clubs anywhere for their investments." President Bement said: "There should be some modification with reference to the price and the means of paying for the drafted players."

President Bement added: "Our season has been satisfactory though we have made no money. Fort Wayne, South Bend, Evansville and Dayton have done well. Wheeling is a good town, but is too far away. Paducah, Ky., wants to get in, but we have done nothing toward fixing the circuit for next season."

CHICAGO KEEPS CUP.

La Rita Defeated Sprite in the Test Race.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The Chicago Yacht club will retain possession of the Sir Thomas Lipton cup for another year, in the special race today between La Rita and Sprite, which was necessary to decide the winner, the series having ended yesterday with both boats tied for first place. DEFENSE TRIES TO SHIFT THE BLAME

Cross-Examination in Newark Manslaughter Trial Reveals That Intention.

THE TRACK WAS SLIPPERY

Evidence Tends to Show That Motorman on Ill-Fated Trolley Car Did All in His Power to Stop It--Defendants Are All in Court.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 1.—It became evident early in today's session of the manslaughter trial in connection with the Newark trolley horror of February last that the defense would endeavor to shift responsibility for the accident from the shoulders of the defendants to Patrick Brady, the motorman of the wrecked car, in which nine school children, eight of them girls, were killed.

The cross-examination of the first witness, Christopher Condon, by R. V. Lindsbury, one of half a score of counsel employed for the defense, related entirely to the condition of the car and the actions of the motorman just prior to the collision.

Several school boys who were on the car when the accident occurred testified that the car was so crowded that many of the children had to stand on the platforms. One boy said he was thrown off a few minutes before the crash came by the motorman in his efforts to stop the car.

John D. Crimmins of New York sat with the other defendants in a row facing the bench. Next to him sat A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, also under indictment. Dr. Leslie D. Ward, vice president of the Prudential Insurance Company, sat next to Mr. Cassatt. The youngest of defendants was J. Roosevelt Shalley. He is smooth-faced and dresses carefully.

Couldn't Stop the Car.

James Ray, a letter carrier, who was on the stand when the court adjourned yesterday, testified that he had for about a minute before the accident a good view of the motorman of the trolley car. The motorman appeared to be struggling hard at both brakes in an effort to stop the car.

Christopher Condron, the gateman at the Clinton avenue crossing, testified that on the day of the accident the trolley tracks were covered with an uneven, lumpy snow. He noticed the cars slipping down the grade and he called the attention of a conductor to the fact shortly before 8 o'clock. Prosecutor Rikar asked why he had spoken to the conductor.

"Because the cars threatened to go through the gates," was the reply.

Professor George C. Sonn of the Newark high school, testified that he had closely examined the trolley track soon after the crash occurred and that he saw no evidence of either sand or salt having been used on the track.

Oscar Bardiffe, engineer of the train, testified that the snow had interfered with the working of the brakes by getting between the brake shoe and the wheels and stopping the friction. He said that it was customary for the trolley cars to run so close to the gates before stopping that the engineers could never be sure that a car was going to stop.

Wheels Were Locked.

Alexander P. Jacobus, a brushmaker, testified that the motorman appeared to do unskilled to stop the car. The front wheels were locked and sliding.

William H. Bowerman, a high school pupil, a passenger on the wrecked car, said he thought the motorman applied the brake about the middle of the block.

KANE GLASS WORKERS BREAK OFFICIAL ORDER

Started to Work Yesterday Regardless of President John Phillips' Instructions.

H. B. Van Cleve, the principal owner of the Pennsylvania 48-blower tank window glass factory at Kane, has succeeded in hiring a full crew and his plant was put in full operation yesterday. The wage arrangement with the men is not known. The workers are members of the Window Glass Workers of America, the new organization of which John Phillips, Jr., is president.

Phillips attended the Detroit conference at which it was decided not to issue any wage scales until a time is agreed upon for general resumption. The action of the members at Kane is in violation of orders from the organization and will probably result in the expulsion of the workers. As a result, there will be one non-union window glass factory, which will be the first in the history of the industry.

Since the announcement of a late start there has been a stiffening of prices, and yesterday all forty-eight of the manufacturers were officially withdrawn. The lowest prices quoted is 88 per cent. off the old list.

Meetings were held in Columbus yesterday, of the Federation and Independent window glass companies, and according to reports from that city an advance in prices will likely be ordered.

An important meeting of the jobbers is scheduled to be held in Pittsburgh on Thursday, September 10. President W. C. Gray, of the National Window Glass Jobbers' Association has written to each member announcing that the meeting will be held provided replies favorable to holding it are received from a majority.

A special meeting of the Western Flint Bottle Manufacturers' Protective Association will open at the Cataract House, Niagara Falls, this morning. The association has gained in strength since the last meeting and now has a membership of seventy-five large concerns. The past prices were 50 and 5 per cent. off on sales to the trade. The prices have been rigidly adhered to by both sides so far.

The summer suspension this year was fixed at two and one-half months. Arrangements will be made to start the next fires in all factories in the country Monday, September 14. The wage scale has been fixed at the same rate as last year.

NO TIME SET FOR OPENING OF WINDOW GLASS PLANTS

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Leopold Mansbourg, secretary of the Federation Window Glass Company, said today that no definite time can be fixed for the opening of the first fires this fall. He said that the demand for glass is below expectations and that the plants will not be opened until the surplus stock is sold. At a meeting of the directors of the Independent Glass Company, held here today, no conclusion as to the price of glass for the coming season was reached.

IN GAY FEATHERS.

Convention of Fraternal Order of Eagles Begins in Tammany Hall, New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Ten thousand members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles came to this city today to attend the annual convention which began at Tammany Hall and will continue through the rest of the week. Mayor Low will review the parade of the Eagles at the Worth monument. President Roosevelt is a member of a Wyoming branch of the order, and efforts were made to get him to review the parade. It was impossible for him to accept, he announced.

Many fantastic costumes were noticed about Tammany Hall today. The Cincinnati Eagles wore Tuxedo coats with gold trimmings, while the Canadians wore kilts. Some of the westerners had rough rider uniforms, but the most astonishing attire was that of the Oklahoma contingent, who wore evening dress with fur caps. The order which is only six years old was started in Seattle, and is strongest in the west and northwest. It now has 150,000 members. Tammany Hall is more elaborately decorated than in years.

LIFEGUARD MADE SPLENDID RECORD

987 Bathers Rescued This Year from Old Ocean's Maw at Atlantic City.

FORCE NOW BEING REDUCED

Perilous Work of a Number of Brave Men Is Over for This Year--State Authorities Will Attempt to Stamp Out the Mosquito Pest.

[THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier, ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 1.]

The force of life guards, which has done such heroic work during the summer, was cut in half today. The record of these men, when reviewed, causes wonder. In all, there have been 15 deaths in the surf, but of these, five can be attributed to heart disease and one to epilepsy. Of the four who were drowned one was a lifeguard, who lost his life by becoming exhausted while trying to recover a lifeboat that had gone adrift, and another was a visitor who went into the surf at night. This leave only two deaths while the guards were on duty, and only one of these was a visitor. Of the hundreds of thousands who went into the surf 987 have, so far, been rescued. Of these 900 were classed as swimmers and their being in danger was due entirely to their having disregarded the rules of the guards, by swimming out into the current, and finding that they could not make headway against it, they lost their heads and would have drowned had they not been brought ashore on the life buoys of the guards. The guards who remain will gradually be reduced in number as bathing is discontinued.

War on the Mosquito.

The state authorities have taken the mosquito pest in hand and it is altogether likely that next year there will not be any of these tuneful, but annoying pests here. The state entomologist got after the board of health some time ago, but that august body failed to act and today Major Story made public a letter received from the state officials, in which they say that they are having a careful survey made of the marshes along the coast. A survey has been made of Absecon island and the surroundings and they have determined here Atlantic City gets the mosquito swarms.

Found Floater Nie Miles Out.

The body of a man about 55 years old, was found floating in the ocean nine miles from shore this afternoon by Captain Quinn. The body was dressed in a jumper and overalls and the man is thought to have been the engineer of some vessel wrecked Sunday night during the gale.

Charity in Oakmont.

The first meeting of the season was held recently by the members of the Oakmont Nursing and Visiting association. Mrs. J. R. Johnson is president of the association, Mrs. C. F. Tiers and Mrs. J. T. Anderson acting as vice presidents; Mrs. J. M. Wilkinson, secretary; Miss E. J. Weed, treasurer, and Mrs. Porter Jones, Miss Harlan Trees and Mrs. W. H. Cooper, directors. The meetings are held in St. Thomas' parish house the last Tuesday in each month. The association has been doing a splendid work in Oakmont and vicinity. Two very serious cases of illness were taken care of by the members during the vacation of the nurse this summer. Miss Annie Walford, the newly elected visiting nurse, went on duty yesterday. At the meeting an important change was made in the membership fee. On the payment of from $1 to $2 to the association anyone becomes an active member and eligible to the board of directors. The fee was formerly $5, those giving less being only associate members. It was decided to hold an all-day sewing and donation party at the monthly meeting September 25. Tea will be served in the parish house and an earnest request is made for a large attendance, as the directors and officers are anxious to increase the interest in the work of the association.

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman, should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When a young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young women for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

Case of a New York Girl of Interest to Every Mother and Daughter in the Land.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I hope you will publish this letter, for I want all mothers to know how much good your medicine did my young daughter. Her health broke down about six months ago, and although she is large for her age, I did not understand what was wrong with her; the doctor did not, either, for he treated her for her heart, which pained her a good deal; but he did not do her any good, and we were afraid heart trouble would carry her off. Every day she kept getting whiter and thinner. She had no appetite, and she sat around without any ambition, and was always too tired to do anything. All night long she would moan in her sleep, as though in terrible pain.

"I felt terribly discouraged; I was spending money for doctor's bills right along, but she was receiving no help. At that time I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I read in one of your books about young girls. I decided to drop the doctor, and give her your medicine. I wish you could see the change in her, and the pink checks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given her. She had taken but half a bottle when menstruation started again and her heart trouble went away like magic. I had her continue the medicine, and now she is fat, rosy, and perfectly healthy. Menstruation is regular and painless, and I owe my thanks to you and to your wonderful medicine for her good health."—MRS. MARIANNE PHELAN, 673 Tenth Avenue, New York City.

SPECIAL ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN FREE.

From her vast experience in treating female ills, extending over 20 years, Mrs. Pinkham has gained a knowledge which is of untold value to every ailing young woman. Her advice never fails to help. If you need such help write her. Address Lynn, Mass.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health and can produce proof of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced.

It is well to remember these facts when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so do not experiment with untried medicine, but insist upon the one you know is best.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Relative "Big Chief" Devery Goes Security for the Convicted Leader.

GREETED BY MANY FRIENDS

Recorder Goff Refused to Accept Proffered Bond, but Judge Amend Did So. Party Adjourns to Cape to Celebrate. Parks in High Spirits.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.

Samuel J. Parks was released this afternoon by Judge Amend in chambers in the supreme court on $10,000 bail furnished by John J. Byrne of No. 310 West Twenty-eighth street, a relative of William S. Devery. This action was taken after Recorder Goff had declined to accept bail for Parks.

Parks was ordered taken back to the Tombs, and 200 labor friends of the convicted walking delegate who had been waiting with a carriage to take him triumphantly to his home went away disappointed.

Afterward counsel for Parks obtained Judge Amend's consent to accept bail and Parks was brought before him in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Kelly. Byrne gave the property at Nos. 851 and 853 Tenth avenue as security. He said it was worth $68,000 and that there was a $15,000 mortgage on it, his equity being $48,000.

After the bond was signed, accompanied by a crowd of admirers, Parks led the way to a cafe at Broadway and Franklin street, where refreshments in generous quantities were enjoyed. The released man appeared to be in the highest spirits. FRANK A. PARKER.

LIMIT OF SHEET STEEL PLANTS NOT MODIFIED

Despite the Appeals of Independent Manufacturers, the Amalgamated Association Convention Refuses to Change Present System.

The special convention of the sheet mill lodges of the Amalgamated association closed last evening by voting to retain the present limit of output. This was a surprise, as a modification of the limit, if not its complete removal, was expected. A committee of independent manufacturers appeared before the delegates and made a plea for the removal of the limit, but their efforts were unavailing.

The delegates held a two days' session, during which time conditions of the mills throughout the country were considered. Yesterday morning's meeting adjourned at noon, until 4 o'clock, to give the manufacturers' committee an opportunity to address the meeting. The committee consisted of Messrs. Lloyd of Zanesville, Thomas of Niles, Longenbach of Canton, Verity of Middletown and Campbell of Youngstown.

Each member of the committee addressed the delegates and endeavored to show why the limit of production should be removed. They contended that the non-union mills had no limitation, and the restrictions placed the speakers at a disadvantage. They said it is giving the non-union mills the trade that they should enjoy. All the manufacturers on the committee claim the American Sheet Steel Company is filling orders that they should have, and for that reason it would be to the advantage of the Amalgamated men to remove the limit of output, so they could be on a par with the competing firms.

The delegates could not agree with the manufacturers that the restrictions of the output would have any effect in the cost of operating the mills, when so few of them were running and some not in operation. They contended that if all the mills were running full and the manufacturers were behind in orders, then it would be the time to remove the restriction to prevent the unlimited mills from capturing the orders.

President Theodore J. Shaffer did not attend the session of the convention, and his whereabouts are unknown to any of the other officials or the delegates. His absence created much comment.

SOUTH DAKOTA GENIUS MAKES FLYING MACHINE

Built on the Darius Green Plan With Balloon Attachment.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINTON, Sept. 1.—A South Dakota man has invented an airship which he claims will fly. A patent was issued today to Isaac I. Morris of Mellette, S. D., on a flying machine which it is claimed flies with ease and is controlled without inconvenience.

Mr. Morris describes his invention as follows: "A machine for aerial navigation, of simple and durable construction and effective in operation, and in which a balloon-supported frame is employed provided with a motive power, including means for lifting and means for driving; also a steering device and wheels to support the structure when on the ground.

"Another purpose of the invention is to provide a novel form of rotary wings used in connection with a fixed canopy wing of like construction, all of the wings being provided with automatically operating valves, the valves of the rotary wings opening at their upper strokes and closing at their downward strokes, while the valves of the fixed canopy wing operate simultaneously with the rotary wings, but reversely, the valves of the canopy wing opening when the valves of the side wings are closed upon their downward and lifting motion and closing when the side wings are on their upstroke to maintain an elevation acquired by the side wings durfing their downward stroke."

RAILROAD CLAIMS IT CAN TAKE PROPERTY

Quotes Act of 1869 as to Its Powers — Wayward Boys Sent to Morganza.

A demurrer was filed yesterday by the defendant in the case of Anthony H. Kenney and Adam Lock against the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company, an action to restrain the company from appropriating the property of the plaintiffs. The company claims that by the act of March 17, 1869, the power to widen, deepen, enlarge and otherwise improve the whole or any portion of the defendant railroad, can be legally exercised whenever, in the opinion of the board of directors, the same may be necessary for better securing the safety of persons and property; also increasing the facilities and capacity for the transportation of traffic. It is claimed that under this interpretation of the law the company has a right to take the property in question.

Judge Marshall Brown held a short session of the juvenile court yesterday and passed judgment on a number of vagabond boys. Joseph Lauscli, the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Annie Lauscli of McKees Rocks, was sent to Morganza on the statement of the mother to the effect that the boy was incorrigible, would steal, and associate with bad boys.

Samuel Rhoades, 15 years old; Albert Sykes, 12 years old and Oliver Smith, 10 years old, were before the court charged with picking pockets on a train going from Rose Grove to Allegheny. Smith was sent to his home, but the other two, who were shown to have bad characters, were sent to Morganza.

John Kerwin entered suit against the Allegheny County Light company for $7,500 damages. He alleges he was hurt by falling from a pole while employed by the defendant company.

MAROONED FOUR DAYS.

Camping Party Shut Off from Access to Shore by the Recent Storm.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Miss Ida Stagg of West Orange, sister of Prof. Alonzo Stagg, athletic instructor of the University of Chicago, had a thrilling experience in the recent storm. With a party of friends from Bridgeport she was marooned on Charles Island in the sound, from Thursday night until Monday morning, when they were rescued.

The wind blew down the shelter of the campers and the sea made it impossible to cross the bar. Their provisions gave out Saturday and the distress signal which they set could not be seen from the mainland in the heavy rain which swept the intervening water. With Miss Stagg were Prosecuting Attorney Golding, Mrs. Bunderwood and Miss Nicholas of Bridgeport.

BIG MONEY IN SIGHT.

Foreigners Were Satisfied That Their Deposits Were in Safe Hands.

Greenbacks and gold, prominently displayed behind brass grating, was the plan resorted to yesterday morning by the officers of the Ohio Valley bank at Preble avenue and Ferry street, Allegheny, to check a run on the bank by several hundred foreigners. The men were employed by the Pressed Steel Car company until a few days ago when they were laid off. They imagined that the car company was short of money and that the Valley bank, which they were erroneously told is owned by that company, would be gobbled up along with their small savings.

Early yesterday morning anxious groups of Slavs presented themselves at the bank and demanded their money. Cashier Reynolds arrived about this time and hastily piled up a sum of several thousand dollars in full view of the excited crowd. Some wanted their deposits anyhow, but the total withdrawals were only about $2,000.

HAY FEVER

No one need suffer from hay fever if he will use Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm. The following testimonials are but drops from the bucketfuls of similar indorsements which come with every mail.

"For 33 years I suffered, terribly, from hay fever, and I could get nothing to help me. I read your advertisement, and concluded to try once more to find relief. I procured some of your Balm, and after using it three days it helped me so that I could go to bed and have a good night's rest, and in only one week's use, I can say that, by the help of God, your Balm cured me of that terrible plague, hay fever. I now recommend your Balm to all my friends."

Mrs. C. H. Jackson,
Colinate Centre, Mass., June 22, 1901.

"Received the jar of Balm just Thursday, and since using it can say that I feel like a new woman; I cannot express myself in any other way. There are now times when I forget that there ever was such a thing as hay fever."

Mrs. M. Darling, No. 22 Grove St., Lynn, Mass., Sept. 6, 1902.

NEWS DID NOT COUNT IN THE STOCK MARKET

Prices Declined in the Face of Splendid Railroad Earnings and Initial Dividends on Two Industrials—Local Market Quiet.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The total transactions on the New York stock exchange yesterday reached about 270,000 shares. This was nearly 50,000 shares smaller than for the first two hours of the day before, when the market was strong and advancing. Yesterday the course of prices was almost uninterruptedly downward, and the tone was heavy throughout. The market ignored such items of good news as splendid railroad earnings and the declaration of initial dividens on two industrial stocks whose holders have been waiting for years for a return on their investment. London prices were fractionally higher, and the first transactions here showed slight gains, but as a rule opening quotations were the highest of the day. Amalgamated Copper opened at 50 and declined steadily to 48⅝, despite another advance in the metal in the London market and the publication of statistics tending to show the strong position of the trade. The fact that the Amalgamated's chief competitor had again worsted the big company in its legal fight in Montana appeared to be more than an offset to every other consideration. Another weak stock was Metropolitan Street Railway. It opened nearly a point lower at 116½, broke 3 per cent and recovered only a slight portion of this loss at the close. This decline of about 6 per cent from the high point reached on Monday was ascribed to "sober second thought" in connection with the transfer of a portion of the underwriting of Metropolitan Securities from a prominent banking house, which was reported on Monday. On the theory that banking houses are not disposing of good things just now the street concocted a pretty story to show that all was not harmony in the undertaking. Brooklyn Rapid Transit sold off in sympathy, but Manhattan held relatively steady.

The United States Steel stocks were dull within the usual narrow range. The common stock opened at 23⅝, which was the high price of the day, declined to and closed at 22⅝. The preferred sold at the opening at 71¼ to 71⅝, and reacted to 70⅝, closing at 70¾. The minor iron and steel stocks were inactive and not much changed.

Reading sold off from 55½ to 54¾ in the face of the best monthly report ever issued for July. The latter showed net earnings for the month of $1,884,009, an increase of $1,521,000. While comparison was made with a month last year when the coal strike was in full force, the showing was nevertheless splendid in itself, but its effects had been discounted. Louisville & Nashville reported an increase in net earnings for July of $84,000, but the stock declined 1 per cent to 105¾ and closed near the lowest. Rock Island also made a good showing. The total earnings for July were $1,379,000, as compared with $1,228,000 for June. For the 12 months the net earnings amounted to $16,669,000. Rock Island common declined from 29⅝ to 28¾ and closed at the lowest. Erie was steady, opening at 30⅜, selling off at 29⅝ and recovering to 30. Baltimore & Ohio declined 1 per cent from 98¾ to 82⅝, being affected, probably, by the rumors of threatened labor troubles. Pennsylvania declined from 125 to 123¾, closing at 124⅛, the weakness being attributed to rumors that the July earnings would be unfavorable as to net. St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Atchison each declined a point or more, and did not display any rallying power at the close. In fact, after 2 p. m. trading came to a standstill, and the heavy tone of the market was due more to the extreme dullness than to anything else.

The "curb" market was equally indifferent news. The long-looked for dividend on American Can preferred was announced, being 2½ per cent, but the stock did not respond, selling at 44@44½ and closing at 43½, a slight net decline. American Can was incorporated in March, 1901, with an authorized capital of $80,000,000 equally divided into common and preferred stock. The latter is 7 per cent cumulative, and about 17 per cent back dividends have accumulated during the past two and a half years. The profits for the first year were reported at $1,775,564, after charging off about $1,000,000 for depreciation. For the second year the total profits were reported at $1,181,349 and the net profits at $886,711. Shortly after the organization of the company the common stock sold at 21½ and the preferred at 89½. Last month the market value was 3½ and 39 respectively. Another industrial to declare an initial dividend was Electric Boat, which announced a distribution of 2 per cent on the preferred. This company was incorporated early in 1898 with $5,000,000 common and $5,000,000 preferred stock. It acquired the Holland Torpedo Boat Company. The preferred stock was quoted yesterday at 41 bid, 45 asked.

A factor which probably prevented a rally in the general market late in the day was the strength in the grain markets, which closed at the highest prices. The weekly crop bulletin of the weather bureau reported abnormally cool weather and excessive rains in the northern corn belt, and some interruption to threshing in the spring wheat region. The condition of the cotton crop on the whole was also less favorable.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday trading was extremely light, sales reaching only 3,370 shares. The tone of the market was rather heavy, and closing prices showed more net losses than gains. Pittsburgh Coal common continued to lead in point of activity, but after advancing to 34½, it reacted to and closed offered at 34. The preferred stock also received a fraction, selling at 84⅝@85½, and closing at 85. River Coal common was a shade higher at 10½, and 10⅝ was bid for 1,000 shares. The preferred was unchanged at 37½. Crucible Steel common remained nominally unchanged at 10½@10⅝. The preferred stock declined a fraction to 70⅝, and closed at 70½ bid. United States Steel common sold to the extent of only 35 shares at 22⅝@23⅛. The preferred rallied to 71¼, but at the close was offered at 70⅞, with 70⅝ bid. Manufacturers Light & Heat sold at 34¾@35, closing at 34⅝ bid. Peoples Natural Gas & Pipeage sold at 20¾. There were no sales of Philadelphia Company, which closed at 49 bid, 49½ asked. National Fire Proofing preferred held steady at 20½@30⅜, but the common was heavy at 29¾ asked. Pittsburgh Brewing was a little firmer at 29⅞. The trading in Westinghouse Electric was confined to 10 shares at 82, and the stock closed at 82 bid for quotable lots. Airbrake sold unchanged at 142. Union Switch and Signal common was offered at 75, and closed without bid. National Glass preferred sold at 94⅞, the first public transaction in the stock on the local board.

Five shares Home Trust at 130, an advance of 3 per cent, and five shares Iron City Trust at 135, which was unchanged, constituted the day's business in this group. There was nothing doing in bonds, and prices were unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

If the object of the "powers that be" in Wall street is to hold the market within narrow limits until after crop news ceases to be a factor, it must be admitted that they are very successful. It is remarkable how quickly sentiment changes in the street, and it is also worthy of note that activity usually accompanies advancing prices. On Monday, for instance, the market was active and a cheerful feeling prevailed. Bull tips on Amalgamated Copper were numerous, and as the market broadened prices advanced. There was cheerful talk about the outlook for money, and interest was taken in railroad earnings, etc. Yesterday a reaction of a point or so was followed by extreme dullness, and the tenor of gossip was full of doubt as to the immediate future.

A Pittsburgh business man who returned yesterday from an extended trip to the Pacific west and northwest said he found a very cheerful feeling in all sections he visited west of Chicago. The president of one of the largest banks in the west, he remarked, said to me that nobody in that section would have known from personal experience that any financial panic existed in the east during the past six months. There were a few individual losses, he said, incurred by those who had speculated on doubtful securities, but the average business man was not affected by the slump in market values. In the northwest I was told that business was exceptionally good, and crops promising. The agricultural community is in an unusually easy financial position. The enlarged buying power is reflected in the activity of the merchandise trade, and in the increased traffic that is furnishing the traffic for the railroads, despite the slow movement of grain. In fact, one of the striking features is the diversification of business in the west and northwest."

In a private letter to the financial editor of The Gazette the president of a national bank in Southeastern Kansas writes: "We are offered a good deal of eastern paper at 6% to 6½ per cent. This is an advance of 1% to 1½ per cent on the rates quoted about three months ago on the same kind of paper. In our bank we can do better than that taking care of our home customers, but I know if I should send back much of the paper I bought from commercial paper at 6% per cent. What do you think of that at this season of year? Our late planted corn is coming along fine, and the prospects are for a better crop than we hoped for two months ago."

Initial sales of National Glass preferred on the local board occurred yesterday, when 200 shares sold at 94⅞.

Pittsburgh was a large buyer of American stocks two years ago. It probably has a large interest in the preferred stock, and the declaration of a 2½ per cent dividend yesterday will assist in carrying the load.

Peoples Natural Gas and Pipeage sold yesterday at 20¾. The last previous sale, which was before the declaration of a 2½ per cent stock dividend, was at 20¼.

Allegheny Heating's stock was offered on the exchange yesterday at 30. There was no bid. No private transactions has occurred to my knowledge for years. The makers of it is held as an asset by the Pittsburgh Coal company.

R. B. Brown of Morris, Brown & Co., years ago earned from his fellow brokers the nickname of "Harvey" Brown, on account of his characteristic promotion of an unfortunate life. On Monday he was heard to talk on his favorite topic, and magnifying the possibilities of his farm on the Allegheny valley, where he has arranged to produce the cylinders. The latter was fitting for a "harvey," since he toted into his office a section of experiment of roasting ears that would drive an Iowa grinder out of the business.

Union Switch and Signal was offered on the local board yesterday at 75. There was no bid. The last public sale was at 80.

Only 10 shares Westinghouse Electric changed hands yesterday at 82, and that price is bid for 100 shares. The stock broke to 81 and paid this dividend, and then rallied to 82, and made no bid for the new stock on the New York stock exchange. It is rumored that a Chicago syndicate will soon be formed to buy the stock, and that certain others will be acquired with interest by stockholders.

The net earnings of Colorado & Southern for July increased $49,000 after the payment of interest. Chief Line reported a decrease of $18,000 in net.

Four more prominent local brokers returned yesterday from their summer vacations. They were R. A. Orr, T. H. Robinson, J. G. McCutcheon and W. A. McCutcheon.

Excitement was deliriously affected by the newspaper news that Russ Lamb & Co. had turned over Amalgamated Copper company to the Whitney-Thompson syndicate of bankers. Round the Pittsburg water and in the Allegheny valley, which had been represented by the original interests when they took hold of it. This caused a sharp break in Metropolitan Street Railway and Metropolitan Securities.

The announcement that four additional bad debts of Moore & Schley's customers had failed had a bad effect on the market. It was explained that this was due to stock exchanges in the hand coal trade. Weakening as this did in the face of splendid earnings by other railroads and trade situation, it had an effect on the whole market.

Jersey Central has just issued its statement of earnings for July. Like all the other coal roads, it reports a heavy increase, both in gross and net. Gross is nearly $2,000,000 more than in July, 1902, and nearly $1,000,000 more than in July, 1901. Net increased $744,000, or about 2 per cent on the stock, over last year, and there is $27,500,000 in surplus after charges and taxes is $332,504, an increase of $414,584.

Interest fell due yesterday on bonds having a par value of $44,000,000, amounting to $1,162,500, exclusive of $12,000 interest on $12,021,420 in bonds. $11,000,000 in 1900 of $11,017,000 in 1901. Dividends are payable on $1,500,000 in stocks having a par value of $1,500,000, and the quarterly distribution of $44,000,000 against $39,000,000 last year, $28,000,000 in 1902, $20,150,000 in 1900 and $11,000,000 in 1899.

SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS ON LABOR'S GREAT DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Special.—All the exchanges in this city as well as generally throughout the country and the Chicago board of trade will be closed tomorrow, Labor day, as on Monday, for the Labor Day holiday. The London stock exchange will also be closed tomorrow, so that the composition of business on that day will be pretty almost throughout the world.

CARSON STREET PROPERTY SOLD

River and Railroad Terminal Company Gets Entrance to Big Warehouse Group.

FOUR HOUSES BRING $32,000

East Pittsburgh Plan of 521 Lots Nearly Ready—Local Architects Plan Church in California—House Sales Numerous Over the City.

The River and Railroad Terminal Company, whose extensive purchase of property in Bingham street between Third and Fourth streets, South Side, was announced exclusively in The Gazette, August 9, in connection with the details of its immense warehouse project has secured an outlet to Carson street by the purchase of two more properties. The larger property is the Hotel Victoria, a three-story brick building on 44x100 feet at Nos. 317-319 East Carson street. It belonged to the heirs of George Gesger. The other lot, 24x100 feet, is at No. 315 East Carson street, and was purchased from James McKeever. A two-story brick building is the only improvement. The exact consideration in the deals has not been made public but the price is said to have been about $300 a front foot, or about $20,000 for the two lots. Both properties extend back to Cabot way. On the opposite side of the latter street and extending down to Bingham street the company has secured practically all the property between Third and Fourth streets in addition to the old Oliver nail and wire mill site, which extends from Bingham street to the Monongahela river.

Plans for a group of 4 warehouses which the company will build this fall have been nearly completed by Architect Charles Beikel. The total investment will approximate $8,000,000. From Carson street a driveway will run to the second floor of the group by one of the properties secured yesterday, and a handsome office building will be erected on the other lot. The Keystone Commercial Company, successor to the old Henderson-Johnson Company, will be a tenant of the River & Railroad Terminal Company, and not owner of the warehouses, as has been reported.

Houses Sold Before Completed.

Four more handsome East End residences have been sold before they were completed by Charles R. Miller & Co. for a total of $32,000. Two of the houses stand on lots 30x106 feet, on the north side of Wellesley avenue, near St. Clair street. The other two occupy lots 30x117 feet at the northwest corner of St. Clair street and Wellston alley. They are 8-room reception hall brick dwellings, provided with all the modern conveniences, and brought $8,000 each. The buyers are local business men who bought for homes. The same company now has 34 similar residences under ..... property in the Nineteenth ward.

The Standard Land and Improvement Company, of which Charles R. Miller is manager, has also disposed of 50 of its 75 new houses at Monessen. They are five-room frame dwellings on lots 24x100 feet, and the finishing touches are just being put on the remaining 25 houses. The buyers were mostly workers in the steel mills at Monessen.

Six House Deals Amount to $24,250.

Through the agency of Thomas McCaffrey six residence properties have just been sold for a total of $24,250. The largest purchase, amounting to $10,000, was made by Michael Craig of Clearfield county, who secured from the Joseph Vogel estate No. 3705 Butler street, a 3-story brick and stone dwelling on lot 100 feet. The property was sold last February for $9,000. Mr. McCaffrey also sold for Mrs. Porter to Mrs. Catherine Hoffbauer No. 4636 Penn avenue, a two-story and mansard frame house, lot 20x100 feet, for $3,500; for James Munday to Joseph Hoberstenberger, No. 3823 Melwood avenue, Thirteenth ward, two frame houses on lot 26x120, for $3,400; for John Knoebel to Phillip Kissle, an improved property, 24x100 feet, in Larimer avenue, near Negley street, Twelfth ward, for $3,000; for Annie M. Leach to Oliver F. Beet, a double frame house, lot 24x80 feet, at No. 3480 Danny street, Sixteenth ward, for $2,350, and for Nicholas Melchior to a local investor, No. 3413 Charlotte street, a 2½-story brick house, lot 20x50 feet, for $1,750.

Jacob Tannenbaum has sold to J. C. Huff, man a three-story brick building on lot 41x84 feet at the northwestern corner of Penn and Franklin streets, Eighth ward, for $16,000.

Hustling an East Pittsburgh Allotment.

Probably the largest of the late allotments to be marketed this year will be the East Pittsburgh addition, formerly the Albert Chalfant farm, which was bought recently by the East Pittsburgh Land Company through the J. H. Warner Company. The opening sale of lots has been set for September 10 and work is being pushed rapidly to get the place in shape by that time. The farm has been plotted into 521 lots of an average size of 25x110 feet, with the usual improvements. The prices will be held at the low figure at which the lots will be sold, the poorest lots to go at $80 each and the best lots, including corner lots, at $250 each. To start building on the allotment the company is arranging to build 15 brick houses at a cost of $2,000 each. The property is located only a short distance from the immense Westinghouse works at East Pittsburgh and Turtle Creek and will be passed by the new East Pittsburgh-Wilkinsburg street car line, for which a franchise was secured recently.

John Koehler, the produce merchant, has purchased from James P. Streeting, No. 7043 Thomas avenue, East End, for $8,500. The house is a modern reception hall dwelling of 10 rooms on lot 35x120 feet.

Local Architects Build California Church.

Pittsburgh architects are rapidly gaining an enviable reputation outside their home city, and many public buildings as well as costly jobs of private building in other states are now coming to their offices. A notable instance of this is the Bishop Jip's Memorial Episcopal church of St. Mark's parish, at Berkeley, Cal., which has just been completed from plans by Architect Nesl & Rowland. The church adjoins the Berekeley college campus and is a model of the Spanish mission style of architecture, which is so common on the western coast. The church cost $20,000.

Bids are being taken by J. B. Judd on the stone building which St. Stephen's Episcopal church will erect in Franklin street, Wilkinsburg. The church will cost about $40,000.

William L. Sheets is actively interested in the organization of a new concern to be known as the McKeesport Office Building Company, which proposes to erect a 16-story office, store and flat building at Fifth avenue and Sinclair street.

Architects Dean & Stophlet are preparing plans for the Masonic temple to be erected at Tarentum.

The Calvary Presbyterian congregation, which was recently organized at Swissvale, has decided to build a $6,000 church at Swissvale avenue and Hill street.

SLOWER SHIPMENTS ADVANCE PRICES

Potatoes Rule 50 Cents a Bushel Higher—Scarcity of Bananas.

A sharp advance of 50 cents a barrel was made yesterday in New Jersey potatoes. The rise is only temporary and the old figures are expected to hold again in a few days. Owing to the heavy rains over the country the past week potato digging has been greatly retarded and shipments have fallen off materially, which is given as the reason for the rise in price. Tomatoes were quoted 25 cents a crate lower, and are of a uniformly good quality. Spanish onions are scarce in market at $1 50 a crate. Other lines of produce are plenty at prevailing prices.

The scarcity of bananas, which has been very noticeable this week, has caused an advance of 5c to 75 cents a bunch. This stock that is arriving is taken away from the dealers almost as fast as it reaches them, and many local stores and restaurants have been unable to get enough for their trade. One car of grapes was received yesterday from New York, but other consignments of fruit from that section will be looked for from the lake region until September 15, or later. New York pears and plums are plenty and in good demand, while California pears are scarce and also hard to obtain. Peaches are scarce and slow in arrival. The supply of Rocky Ford cantaloupes is cleaned up every day and prices remain about the same as last week.

Receipts of hay continue good and the quality is reported excellent. There has been no material change in the price this week. In grain, No. 2 Michigan rye has advanced 1c a bushel, and is now selling here. Corn shows offers in the price of high mixed, shelled corn. Navy beans are marked up 5c a bushel. Flour has advanced to $4 15 a barrel, 20 cents rye, for fancy winter wheat patent, and the demand continues steady.

WHEAT CLOSED HIGHER IN CHICAGO MARKET

Corn, Oats and Provisions Were Also Strong With Advance in Prices.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Continued good weather in the northwest together with easier cables gave an easy start to the wheat market. December opening 9@9½c lower, at 81@c. There was a little better feeling later, with a fair demand from shorts, but free offerings by pit traders kept prices down until the government weather bureau report was issued, when the early loss was recovered and the market became firm. There was little interest in the trading, which was the lightest experienced for several weeks. The close was at the top—81½@82c for December—a net gain of ½@c. Primary receipts were 911,000 bushels. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 345 cars, which with local receipts of 196 cars, 11 of contract grade, made a total for the three points of 451 cars, against 582 cars last week, and 250 a year ago.

The feature in the corn pit was the covering in the September option by shorts on predictions of cold weather next, and the bullish government bulletin which declared dry warm weather generally needed. There was but little corn on the market and that little was quickly absorbed. December closed strong at an advance of 7@7½c, at the high point for the day—51½c—having sold on both free trades from 50¾@51c. The September option closed ½c under the special price. The cash demand from shippers and millers was good. Receipts were 587 cars, with 20 of contract grade.

Oats were quiet, but firm. The strength in corn with unfavorable crop reports helped the market and the close showed a gain in December of 3@3½c, after ranging between 36 and 36¾c, at 36½c. Local receipts were 273 cars.

Provisions were firm, and at times showed considerable strength. Hogs were steady and there was fairly good support throughout the day by packers and jobbers. September pork was 10c higher, at $12 27½; September lard was up 5c at $6 37½, with January $5 87 05c. September ribs were 10@12½c higher, at $7 50, January closing at $6 12½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 140 cars; corn, 320 cars; oats, 160 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

Second Report from Cabell is Not So Encouraging as the First

The second report from the new strike near Mifflin, Cabell county, West Virginia, is not as rosy as the first. It is said that the well when drilled into the top of the Keener made a 3-foot gas pay, which filled the tubing to the surface, and by a 6-inch Fenley flowing had put 50 barrels in the tank, and then stopped producing, and since then has not made a flow. It is quite probable that the operators will prove no more profitable than other wells drilled in that county, after having proved failures after making a flattering start.

On the west side of the Pine Grove extension, in Wirt county, the Southern Oil Company and Greenlee are still drilling in the sand at their test on the Howard Porter farm. It was reported last night that it would probably make a 15-barrel producer.

In the Northwest district the Rund Penn Oil Company's No. 1 on the Matilda Gallagher farm has been drilled till five feet into the big lime and has no show for a producer. In the same district the South Penn has completed a gasser on the Jacob Wise farm, and will have a small pumper. The same company has shot in part of the Alfred Elias farm and is producing 30 barrels the result of 200 pounds of nitroglycerine. The Penn has on the J. B. Elias farm and has a natural produced gasser for 20 barrels a day in the Big Injun sand.

In the Fairmont district, Tyler county, the Ashton & Hervey Development Company has placed the No. 4 on the Andrew Glover farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Gantz sand.

Members of the Pine Grove syndicate, in Wetzel county, the Stout Penn's No. 1 on the Thomas J. Schroader farm is holding up at 212 barrels a day. The same company's No. 4 on W. Tollington, east of Paden, is producing 200 barrels and No. 3 on the J. C. Gonder farm in Grant county, Pa., 30 barrels a day.

In the Whitby Run extension, in Doddridge county, there are three new wells now at the pumping stage, and two others are drilling deeper.

Both of Shippingport Alleghany county, the McCafferty Oil and Gas Company's test on the W. Crawford farm, and W. C. Waller & Co.'s test on the J. Hill farm have been completed and 11 barrels a day produced.

In the Grayville district, Monroe county, O., the Fisher Oil Company has completed its test on the J. B. and A. H. Dougherty farm and has a show for a 5-barrel pumper in the Berea grit, by the Louisville slough; in the same county, the Farmer Oil Company has completed a test on the Joseph Turner farm and found nothing to pay or the producing formation. The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, at Cairo, has completed a 5-in the Berea grit and will have a small pumper. The same company has also its test on the Alfred Elias farm and is produced 30 barrels the result of 200 pounds of nitroglycerine shot in the 24 hours. The Penn has its test on the J. B. Elias farm and has a natural produced gasser for 20 barrels a day in the Big Injun sand.

CREATORE CREATORE

$5,000 Invested in Displays and Exhibits. Gorgeous $5,000 Theaterium And 11 Superb Special Attractions.

A western editor, whose emotions had dried up and already were bleaching, was persuaded almost against his will to attend a CREATORE concert. The CREATORE THRILL and AGUE seized him; sent musical shivers up and down his spine and caused him to write thus burningly: "Creatore starts the band in a mild, enfeebling way. A simple uplifting of the arms. Then suddenly, with a wild shake of his shaggy head, he springs across the stage with the ferocity of a wounded lion. Crash! Bang! And a great volume of sound chokes the nail from pit to dome. Then he doubles up like a question mark, and, with glaring eyes and grating teeth, with outstretched, prompting finger, he creeps stealthily around, the very picture of hate and malice personified. Suddenly a wild leap into the air, and with his long hair standing straight up, he lands stiff-legged, like a bucking bronco. Now he leans over the row of music stands and smiles the smile of a lover—pleading, supplicating, entreating, caressing, with outstretched hand, piercing the air with his baton like a fencing master. Almost to his knees he bows, he demands, he writhes around with waving arms. He laughs, he cries, he sings, he hisses through his clenched teeth. HE PUZZLE THE MUSIC WITH EVERY FIBER. Now it is the rushing winds; now the soft plaintive of the mournful horses; here the booming of the surf on the stony rocks, and now the birds singing in the treetops or the sound of angels' wings. He throws up his hands like an Aztec at prayer. A wild burst of melody and all is over."
